LEADERS MEET; SEPARATE PEACE TALK REVIVED

DRY ARMY RAIDS SEVERAL PLACES FIND MOONSHINE

State and Federal Officers, With Police and Sheriff, Conduct Raids Friday Night

"WILD BILL" CHAMBERLAIN IS RAIDED; LIQUOR FOUND

Find Mash Cooking in Home on the North Side

AN ARMY of state and federal prohibition officers descended on the city Thursday night and with the help of the police department and the sheriff's office, conducted a series of raids on suspected places in the city and vicinity.

"Wild Bill" Chamberlain, proprietor of a place on South Second street, ran afoul of the law when his establishment was raided. A quantity of illegal liquor was found, it is alleged, and Chamberlain was taken into custody.

The Star restaurant, at 205 Pearl street, was also invaded by the dry sleuths, who found enough of the "stuff" on hand to hold the proprietor, T. A. Thompson, for further investigation, it was said.

[illegible] Thorp, who resides at 1016 St. Paul street, was found at his home cooking a bunch of mash which he claimed was being done to fill an order from the Western hotel. The raiders went through the Western hotel, but found nothing there. It is said that several barrels of mash were found in Thorp's home.

State agents raiding the saloon of Ole Kerstad at 520 North Fourth street, found about a gallon of "moon" in the place, it is claimed.

A road house on the North Salem road, run by George Champagne, was also on the list of the raiders. A quantity of "moonshine" in pint bottles was unearthed, it was said.

Saturday morning the prohibition agents found Joe Pinger and Mary Armstrong in the Mississippi river bottoms south of the city, with three gallons of moonshine in jugs and a pint bottle of the stuff in their possession.

It is said that in a few minutes after the first raid was pulled Friday night the city was as dry as Sahara.

SHISLER AND MOEN TRIAL POSTPONED AGAIN; REID ILL

The jury trial of John Shisler and Oscar Moen, charged with having exchanged moonshine for tools alleged to have been stolen from the Iron Products company by Charles Swanson, was again postponed Thursday, due to the illness of District Attorney Lester Reid. The date for the trial has not yet been decided.

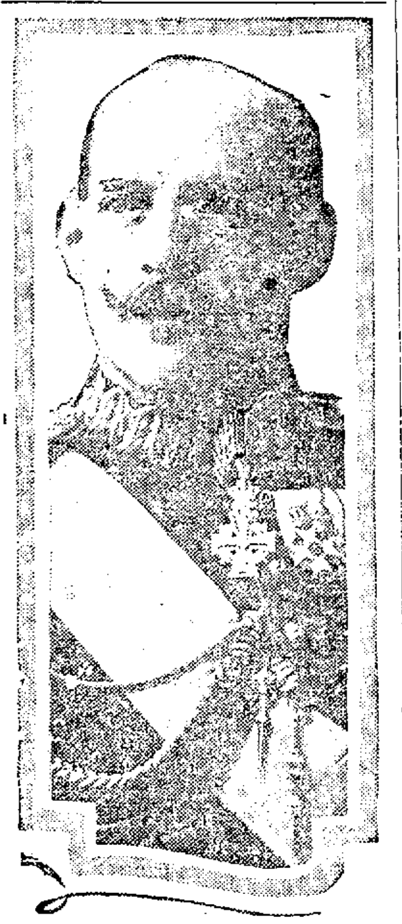
CONSTANTINE PREPARING TO VACATE GREEK THRONE SAYS REPORT FROM PARIS

TINO TO ABDICATE

Reports From European Capitals Indicate, Greek Ruler Will Give Place to His Son.



KING CONSTANTINE

SON'S RECALL TO THE CAPITAL LENDS COLOR TO RUMORS

Cabinet Has Resigned and New Ministry is Now Being Organized

GREEK EVACUATION OF ASIA MINOR DECLARED IMMINENT

British Mediterranean Fleet Concentrated in Eastern Waters

PARIS.—By the Associated Press.—Rumors that King Constantine of Greece intends to abdicate are current in several European capitals. They are considered here to have been given some color by the sudden recall of the Greek heir apparent, Prince George, to Athens from Bucharest.

British Ships to Smyrna

MALTA—By the Associated Press.—The British cruisers Concord and Cardiff are under orders to sail Friday for Smyrna. The entire British Mediterranean fleet now is concentrated in Near Eastern waters.

Will Leave Asia Minor

ATHENS. — By the Associated Press.—The evacuation of Asia Minor by the Greeks as a result of the successful offensive against their army by the Turkish nationalists, is accepted here as a foregone conclusion, although it has not been announced officially.

Meanwhile the cabinet has resigned as the result of the Greek reverses, and a new ministry is in process of formation.

Actual orders for the evacuation of Asia Minor have not yet been given, it is said, but Gen. Dousmanos, the chief of staff, is studying the problem so as to carry out the maneuver under the best conditions possible.

Two Generals Captured

A telephone message from the Greek commander in the field says that Gen. Tricoupis, who had been appointed to the command, and Gen. Digenis, were captured by the Turkish cavalry while they were proceeding to join the Greek troops at Alashehr, east of Smyrna. The taking of these generals with their staffs was not connected with the reported loss of their army corps, according to seemingly reliable information, this corps eventually retreating in the direction of Alashehr.

The third army corps which suffered the least from the nationalist pressure, retreated toward Brusa and consequently doubt is cast upon the reports that Brusa had been evacuated. That Brusa had been occupied by the nationalists was denied here and it was declared the third corps had taken up its position there.

Tino Still in Athens

Refugees from Smyrna are already arriving here. Eight hundred of them were brought into the port of Athens. They were accompanied by a number of functionaries bringing the archives of the Greek high commissioner at Smyrna.

General Polimenakos has been appointed commander in chief of the Greek forces in Asia Minor following the capture of General Tricoupis.

Reports that King Constantine had left Athens are unfounded.

DECLARES ST. PAUL CAN'T BUILD A DAM ON ST. CROIX RIVER

City Expressly Denied the Right is Ruling of Assistant Attorney General

STATE OPPOSES PLAN OF CITY TO DEVELOP ELECTRIC POWER

Rail Commission Appeals to Congressmen to Fight Project

MADISON, Wis.—The city of St. Paul is expressly denied the right to construct a dam across that portion of the St. Croix river which lies in Wisconsin, by the statutes of this state, B. M. Hoyt, deputy attorney general, held in an opinion to the railroad commission Friday.

Application was recently made by the Minnesota city to the federal power commission for authority to construct a large dam on the river, which bounds Minnesota and Wisconsin for development of electric power. The effect such a development would have on Wisconsin's rights has caused the railroad commission to urge opposition of Wisconsin congressmen to the project, and to investigate the legal obstacles that might be thrown in the way of construction.

Mr. Hoyt pointed out that Wisconconsin law made it a penal offence to construct and maintain a dam in navigable waters except as authorized by law. The Wisconsin legislature has granted no authority to Minnesota in this regard, he said, holding that the city of St. Paul "has not complied with the requirements of Wisconsin law with respect to the construction of a dam or use of water of the St. Croix river for power purposes."

COMMITTEE AND COUNCIL TO MEET ON FRIDAY NIGHT

SPRING GROVE SHUTS UP SHOP TO ATTEND GOPHER STATE FAIR

HAMLINE, Minn. — They just about locked up the town of Spring Grove, Minn., when the town band came down to the state fair here this week to help furnish the music.

The only banker had to shut up his bank so he could play the trombone, the barber shops all closed as every barber doubles in brass and the band's director, Rev. Albert E. Johnson, is the only minister.

SOUTH RUSSIA IN REVOLT AGAINST SOVIET REGIME

LONDON.—Rebellion has broken out in South Russia, according to a Helsingfors dispatch to the Central News via Copenhagen. The Odessa soviets have declared South Russia and Crimea independent. There is fighting in many districts between the rebels and the soviets, the dispatch stated. The crews of warships stationed at Sebastopol also were reported to be in a state of mutiny.

TWO AUTOS COLLIDE ON MORMON COULEE ROAD; WOMAN HURT

Mrs. C. R. Burdic, Chicago, Sustains Fractured Arm When Thrown from Machine

INJURED WOMAN RIDING WITH MRS. C. R. AUSTIN

Buick Collides With Ford Coupe of George Sater, West Salem

AN automobile accident in which Mrs. C. R. Burdic, of Chicago, sustained a fractured arm, occured just east of Muenzenberger's saloon on Mormon Coulee road Thursday evening when the Buick car of Mrs. C. R. Austin collided with the Ford coupe of George Sater, West Salem, police reported Friday. No report that Mrs. Austin was injured was made.

Mrs. Burdic, riding with Mrs. Austin, who lives at the Winters farm on Mormon Coulee road, was thrown from the machine by the impact. She was taken to the St. Francis hospital for treatment where an examination revealed a fractured arm. Sater was examined at the La Crosse hospital, but it was found that he was not injured. Police reported that neither car was traveling at a fast rate.

Officers who arrived on the scene shortly after the accident claimed that the Austin machine had been driven on the left side of the road. Sater's statement was that he noticed a car zig-zagging on the road ahead as it approached. He said he tried to avoid the collision but it was impossible, the police said. Sater told the police that he also zigzagged to avoid striking the other car.

It was said that the Ford suffered the greatest damage, having a crumpled left front fender, with the front running gear torn from the body. A front end bumper protected the Buick from severe damage, it was said.

OHIO PHYSICIAN IS CALLED TO ATTEND WIFE OF PRESIDENT

Complications Develop in Illness of Mrs. Harding, But Patient is Resting Easily

WASHINGTON.—Serious complications developed in the illness of Mrs. Harding, wife of President Harding Thursday but they were "slightly abated Friday morning, and the patient is resting more easily," Brig.-Gen. Sawyer, the physician in attendance, said Friday in a statement issued at the white house.

Mrs. Harding's condition still is regarded with much concern, the statement said, adding that Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, of Marion, who was associated with his father in attending Mrs. Harding during a previous illness of similar nature, had arrived here for consultation.

PAID $5.00 FOR THE RIGHT TO LIVE WITH ANOTHER MAN'S WIFE

JANESVILLE, Wis.—That he paid $5 to the husband of Mrs. Catherine Zuber, Chicago, with whom he has been living in Beloit since April, so he would not be molested, was the strange tale told by Bert Hutzel in Beloit municipal court Thursday when arraigned on a statutory charge. Hutzel claimed that on several occasions he "cured" Mrs. Zuber of her craving for dope and he finally bought the right to live with her for $5.

DEMOCRAT IS WARD CHAIRMAN OF REPUBLICANS

Attorney Paul W. Mahoney, democratic alderman from the Nineteenth ward, has been elected chairman of the ward on the republican ticket.

Alderman Mahoney, always associated with the democratic party in the past, said when interviewed Friday morning: "Certainly I'll serve. I've been elected, and though I didn't seek the office, I'll accept it.

"Two years ago," he said, "I was elected to the same office on the same ticket, but someone took it for granted that I wouldn't accept it and declared a vacancy. They won't do it again, or I'll see Judge Higbee about it.

"All of the other democrats have gone over to the republican party, so why shouldn't I? I'm a progressive, too."

WISCONSIN SENATE CONTROL IS STILL IN DOUBT FRIDAY

La Follette Faction Claims Majority in Lower House But Senate is Doubtful

MUTTON CLAIMS NOMINATION OF EIGHTEEN DRY SENATORS

Wets Point to Primary as Defeat of Anti-Saloon League

MADISON, Wis.—Control of the senate of the 1923 Wisconsin legislature remains in doubt as reports of additional nominations are made to political headquarters here.

The La Follette progressive faction of the republican party with 54 assemblymen out of 100 assured before returns from Milwaukee are available, is still without assurance of a majority in the upper house of the legislature.

Out of 17 hold-over senators, 14 are opposed to the La Follette faction. Eleven senators receiving indorsement of the progressives have been nominated outside Milwaukee county, with two to be voted on there.

Unless some member of the senate changes his affiliations or unless the final count of votes makes a change in the outcome of some contest, the best the La Follette faction can claim in the upper house will be sixteen votes to seventeen for the opposition.

Robert M. La Follette, Jr., campaign manager of the La Follette progressive forces, said today that until complete returns were available control of the upper house would remain in doubt.

Drys Claim 18 Senators

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—By the Associated Press.—"We are sure of eighteen dry senators with another one, an ace in the hole," R. P. Hutton, superintendent of the Wisconsin Anti-saloon league, declared in commenting on the returns affecting the legislative candidates nominated in Tuesday's primaries. Mr. Hutton did not claim that supporters of the dry movement would have a majority in the assembly, but he felt certain that with information he had at hand there would be no change in the enforcement of prohibition for at least two years.

"The wets stuck to the wet issue and the drys were tricked into the belief that prohibition was not an issue," he said, adding: "Half of the drys voted for wet candidates and the other half stood by candidates supported by the anti-saloon league."

Dr. J. J. Seelman, president of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, Wisconsin division, looks upon the results of Tuesday's primaries as what he termed "an intensive and demoralizing defeat" of the Anti-saloon league.

Plan Independent Ticket

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—A new lineup for an independent ticket in opposition to the La Follette forces in the coming campaign has been suggested as a result of conferences held here during the last twenty-four hours.

Leatham D. Smith of Sturgeon Bay is proposed as the candidate for governor with Attorney General William J. Morgan running for U. S. senator against La Follette. It is argued that this combination would be more effective than to have Mr. Morgan run for governor and Mr. Smith for senator.

Mr. Smith has been in the city since Thursday but says he has no statement to make for publication. Mr. Morgan said that he is willing to become an independent candidate and continue the fight against what he termed "destructive radicalism," but that he will require assurances of substantial support before agreeing to run.

SEES DETERIORATION IN LUMBERJACKS OF THE PRESENT TIME

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—"The Lumberjack of today is too effete," said W. B. Clubine, Park Falls, Wis., at annual meeting of the Northern Logging congress being held here.

"He wants strawberries for breakfast, individual bunks, sanitary housing, shower baths, table-cloths, and napkins," said Mr. Clubine.

"Give them anything they want," spoke up Edward Hines, wealthy Chicago lumberman. "Give them four o'clock tea and hot and cold water, running water if necessary. I'm getting old and if I'm to make any money in this business to lay by for a rainy day. I've got to start soon."

The convention has about decided that to get men for the north woods it will be necessary to raise the jack's pay substantially. The old type of lumberjack is gone, according to the lumbermen, and to get men physically fit, who have been used to good living, the same must be furnished them in northwoods.

REPORTED MOVES TOWARD SETTLING RAIL STRIKE ARE VEILED IN SECRECY

Meeting of Railway Executives Scheduled for this Afternoon to Discuss Separate Agreements; Shopcraft Leaders Also in Chicago for Conferences

CHICAGO, Ill.—The plan Daniel Willard of the Baltimore & Ohio railway, is said to have proposed for individual agreements for settlement of the shopmen's strike, so far as outlined, does not mention seniority rights, the Chicago Daily News said Friday. According to this story the seniority question would be compromised, although full senority would be restored.

WASHINGTON.—Administrative officials who have kept in close touch with the industrial situation declared on Friday that settlement of the shopmen's strike on a number of railroads was "probable as a result of conferences in Chicago."

CHICAGO, Ill.—By the Associated Press.—A meeting of several railway executives with Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, was expected to be held here Friday afternoon. No formal announcement of the meeting was made, although it was understood the question of reaching separate agreements with the striking railroad shop crafts would be considered.

Some of the shop craft leaders already were reported in the city for preliminary conferences in connection with the meeting of the union policy committee of ninety members on Monday. The policy committee, it has been reported, was expected to decide whether or not separate agreements with the railroads would be approved. Previously union leaders have rejected individual agreements.

One executive who expected to attend the afternoon session said that separate agreements on some of the roads still was possible but that the time was getting short and that if a settlement on certain lines was to be made at all it must be made quickly.

It seemed likely, according to one railroad head who refused to be quoted, that the question of the strikers' seniority rights still would prove a stumbling block in efforts to reach separate agreements and he declared positively that there could be no wage increase.

H. E. Byram, head of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, said his company still was willing to discuss separate agreements. He was expected to meet Mr. Willard and other executives Friday afternoon.

No statement was obtainable from the North western road, although that company in newspaper advertisements said that efforts to reach a settlement had failed and invited the striking employes to return to work.

Union leaders were not in evidence Friday morning. It was reported that B. M. Jewell, head of the railway employes' department of the American Federation of Labor would return from the east today, although John Scott, secretary of the railway employes, said he had not heard from him.

Rumors of Peace Persist

CHICAGO, Ill.—Persistent rumors of an impending peace or partial settlement of the railroad strike, continued here Friday without any tangible foundation in the way of definite statements by rail heads or union officials to substantiate the reports.

Most of the railroad executives who commented on the rumors denied knowledge of new proposals to end the strike. Union leaders declined to lift the cloak of secrecy which appeared to surround the reported peace move.

Hope for Separate Agreements

Expression of hope for separate agreements with individual roads were the most positive statements any union leaders had made as the time approached for Monday's meeting of the shop crafts policy committee.

Arrangements for this meeting called for a preliminary conference here Friday between Bert M. Jewell, head of the striking shopmen and his executive council.

J. P. Noonan, chief of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, asserted at Washington that there were no settlement discussions proceeding with any of the railroads at this time, although there "might be some in the future." The purpose of the shop crafts policy committee meeting was to consider the general strike policy and the Daugherty injunction, he said.

The policy meeting is called for the same time that Judge Wilkerson is due to hear Attorney General Daugherty's application to make the government's strike injunction permanent.

Many Roads on Normal Basis

Several roads reported their shops to be operating on an almost normal basis, declaring the shopmen had lost their strike.

Mr. Jewell and all officials of the six shop crafts on strike were reported to have voluntarily cut their own union salaries in half until termination of the strike. The salary reductions were made, it was said at the suggestion of Mr. Jewell that the leaders should help bear the burden of the rank and file of the unions.

B. M. Jewell, head of the Federated Shop crafts, Wiliam H. Johnston, president of the International Association of Machinists, and Martin F. Ryan, president of the International Brotherhood of Railway Carmen, arrived in Chicago this morn-

YEAR IN PEN AT HARD LABOR FOR WIFE DESERTER

Andrew Oren Sentenced to Serve Year in Waupun for Failure to Support Family

WIFE SEEKS DIVORCE ON CHARGE OF NON-SUPPORT

Complaint also Charges Cruelty and Habitual Drunkenness

ANDREW OREN, 424 South Second street, was sentenced to a year at hard labor at the state's prison at Waupun by Judge Brindley in county court Thursday afternoon on a charge of deserting his wife and family, and failing to support his wife and five dependent children. He pleaded guilty to the charge.

Oren has been in court before on similar charges, and has also been haled into police court on charges of intoxication.

On the same day that Oren received his sentence in county court, his wife, Lila Oren, filed suit in circuit court for divorce. She charged in her complaint that for the past ten years Oren has made a practice of beating her and he has failed to support his family. There are five children under sixteen years of age.

Mrs. Oren asks alimony and the custody of the children.

GUNMAN GOES TO GALLOWS WITH A LAUGH ON LIPS

FORT MADISON, Iowa.—Without a tremor of fear, Ira Pavey, Sioux City gunman, paid with his life for the murder of Claude Lerner, at noon Friday. Sheriff Synhorst of Grange City, pulled the trap at exactly noon.

Pavey was absolutely without fear as the end drew near. He was led from the barred room where he had spent his last hours with his mother and two sisters, at ten minutes to twelve. He refused to be accompanied by a priest. He walked to the corner of the prison yard where the gallows stood, smoking a cigaret.

At the foot of the gallows he laughed and joked with Warden Hollowell and the guards.

SETBACK IN WHEAT CROP IS REPORTED BY U. S. BUREAU

WASHINGTON. — Reduction of 142,000,000 bushels during the last month in this year's prospective corn crop was shown Friday in the forecast at 2,875,000,000 bushels by the department of agriculture. The crop was reported to have deteriorated considerably in the central and eastern states since mid-August and to have had a severe setback in Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska from excessive heat and lack of moisture.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH FINANCES REPORTED IN GOOD CONDITION

Income Exceeds Expenditures for First Time in Several Years Reports Treasurer

PORTLAND, Ore. — Lewis B. Franklin, vice president and treasurer of the council of the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States, reported Friday at a joint meeting of the house of bishops and house of deputies at the triennial convention here that for the first time in several years the income of the general church in 1920 and 1921 had exceeded expenditures, the excess being $352,951.91 which was applied toward reduction of the accumulated deficit of past years.

Mr. Franklin then presented to the convention the proposed general church program for the next three years, as adopted by the national council. This provides for the maintenance of the existing work of the general church in missions, religious education and social service throughout the world and for advance work in every field. The maintenance items make up that part of the program called the budget and call for the expenditure in three years of $12,600,000. The advance work is grouped under the head of priorities and calls for $8,399,071, making a total of $20,999,071.

The church pension fund, it was pointed out, disclosed that salaries of clergy during the year 1920 were increased $1,418,000 and during 1921 by $997,000, a total of $2,415,000.

During the two and a half years of work of the presiding bishops and council the deficit inherited from the old board of missions had been reduced from $920,216 to $567,291.

HIGHWAY FIFTEEN OPEN FROM STATE LINE TO GREEN BAY

Last Detour Now Abandoned; Road is Clear; Few Changes in Road Conditions Noted

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—No noticeable changes were made by the Wisconsin highway system during the past week, the Milwaukee Journal in the weekly review by its tour department says. The report reads:

"The one remaining construction job on Highway 15, which necessitated a small detour around a bridge in Washington county, has now been opened and the road is clear from the state line to Green Bay.

"Highway 19 is now open all the way to Madison, but there has been some complaint because of fresh gravel between Waterloo and Madison.

"September 11 has been designated as the date for the official inspection of Highway 15 and to those who wish to make schedule time it would be well to avoid this road on that day because of heavy traffic.

"The best combination for Minneapolis at the present time is 15-47-16-11-12-79-61-45.

"To Kilbourn, 19 and 12.

"A concrete road as far as Burlington is 36 to County Trunk C, C to Highway 20 and 20 to Burlington."

STORK MADE LONG JOURNEY

The population of Liskau, Germany, noticed one day recently that one of the many storks which annually return to the neighborhood from distant southern zones to rebuild their nests was carrying something about its neck which only human hands could have fastened there.

Repeated efforts to approach the bird had failed, but one of the villagers finally lured the stork into his barn and then and there learned that the bird carried a little leather case in which a note was enclosed. The note revealed that the stork had come all the way from East Africa, where a German colonist, Willi Bucha, has his little farm near Victoria lake.

Bucha must have anticipated that the bird spent his annual vacation in his beloved fatherland, so he wrote: "Just a greeting to the fatherland," and used the stork to convey the message.

JEWELER ROBBED

CHICAGO, Ill.—Adolph Kenstler, said to be a New York jeweler, was assaulted by three men Friday in a restaurant on Upper Sheridan road and robbed of jewelry valued at $50,000, according to reports to the police. The bandits escaped in an automobile. Kenstler was taken to a hospital, where it was said he had been severely beaten.

The Census in 3800 B. C.

While priding ourselves upon our census system it may be well to remember that census taking is no new thing. The first count of British heads took place in 1801, after long opposition based on superstition. The Romans looked upon it as a regular institution. But it is now found that Babylonia took a census before 3800 B. C., which was perfected, and returns made by districts, in 2300 B. C. Fragments of the returns in the second dynasty of Ur are on tablets in the British museum.—From the Scientific American.

POISON GAS ENDS HOPE OF SAVING IMPRISONED MEN IN CALIFORNIA GOLD MINE

JACKSON, Cal.—Deadly poisonous gas is pouring out of one shaft of the Argonaut mine where forty-seven miners have been entombed with rescue crews working desperately day and night to save them. Hope that was bright a day or two ago has turned to hopelessness. Anguish has turned to sorrow, agony to apathetic resignation.

Dr. L. H. Duschak, state chemical engineer expresses the opinion that miners exposed to the poison gases would live but a few minutes. He also gave it as his judgment that the fire had been burning steadily since the explosion which imprisoned the men.

Think It a Graveyard

The rescuers have gone far in the 3,600 level. They have heaved aside almost a third of the 343 feet of muck and fallen timber and twisted buried rails. But it has taken them two days. It may be four days more before they reach that seventy-five feet of solid rock, and it may be three days before that rock—that granite tombstone—is torn away.

Another week—it is impossible that men could still be alive in another week. Jackson knows it. The Argonaut is a graveyard, and Jackson bends over the graves in love and sorrow, head bent and shoulders drooping.

"Ah, I had thought I would see him again, would feel his hands in mine—those big, rough hands of his" —it is a weary woman speaking of her husband. She is standing in front of St. Patrick's church. She has lighted a candle in front of the statue of Mary and the Child.

Priest Sees Little Hope

"They tell me," he says to a newspaperman, "that a strange new smell has come out of the shaft mingled with the carbondioxide and carbon monoxide odors—a ghastly smell. Poor boys, they'll all be found at the foot of the shaft. I think, their poor white faces close to the outlet of the air."

The official bulletin contains no hint of this. It states simply that the results of air analysis show there is little change in the air conditions in the mine—the fire that trapped the forty-seven is still burning. But arrangements are being made for the funeral and forty-seven coffins have been ordered into these peaceful hills.

Four crews of rescuers were sent home Thursday morning. They were worn out with the fight, the mine officials say, weakened, unfitted for more work until they have rested a day or two. One of them was a man who has been slightly injured by a cave-in last night.

But Jackson takes the dismissal as evidence that the officials have abandoned hope. Jackson knows that everything is being done that can be done to get to the imprisoned men, whether they be dead or alive. Jackson shows little interest in the departure of the four crews. He knows that even though the stone be rolled from the tomb, there will be no resurrection.

Abandon Hope

JACKSON, Cal.—By The Associated Press.—Diminished hope accompanied Friday the renewal of feverish efforts to rescue the 47 miners entombed deep in the Argonaut gold mine here eleven days ago. The feeling was growing that few if any of the men would be found alive.

In the first official statement issued since the disaster, E. A. Stent, vice president of the Argonaut company, expressed the belief that all of the men had perished.

Mr. Stent said he did not place credence in reports that the entombed miners had signalled their rescuers by blasts in the last few days. He based his hopeless outlook largely on the report of Dr. Duschak of the industrial accident commission that gas fumes issuing from one of the shafts would kill in two minutes.

DOG INTELLIGENCE

In England a short time ago, says an exchange, a medal was awarded a Great Dane for saving his master's life. A roaring, deafening wind was blowing, and the man was walking along a dark Cheshire road with his head down.

The dog was some distance behind, but presently he came up at racing speed, took a jump at his master, and sent him sprawling into the hedge. The dog himself could not escape the bonnet of the car which, but for his intervention, would have killed his master, and was badly injured.

In spite of repeated warnings, Bobby persisted in driving nails into blocks and boards.

One morning his father heard the familiar pounding and, looking out, he saw Bobby banging away, his little sister, Mary, sitting beside him looking on.

The Word Cockle

"To warm the cockles of one's heart" has several strange derivations. The word cockle is said to have been derived from the resemblance in shape between a cockleshell and a heart; from the resemblance between the Greek word for heart, kardia, and the Latin word for cockle, cardium; and from the Latin word cochlea, meaning ventricle, a small cavity in an animal body.

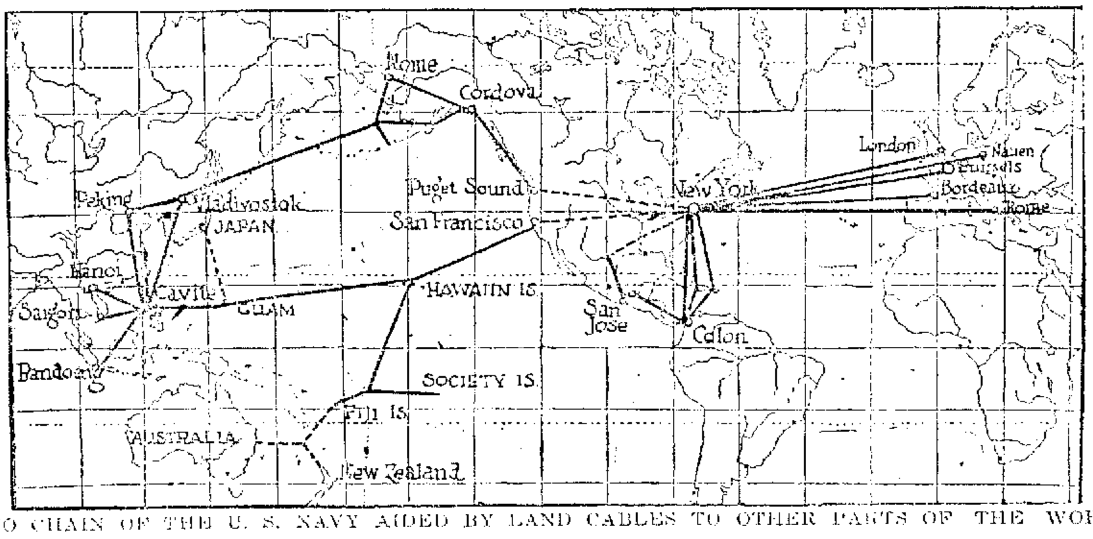
WORLD'S GREATEST RADIO SYSTEM IS U. S. NAVY'S



RADIO CHAIN OF THE U. S. NAVY AIDED BY LAND CABLES TO OTHER PARTS OF THE WORLD.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The world's greatest radio business is being conducted by the United States navy.

Facts and figures given out by naval officials here show an increased volume of messages among the department's radio stations, which they say surpass the business of any other country or corporation on earth. That does not exclude the world-wide Imperial Radio Chain, which is being contemplated by Great Britain.

The immensity of the naval radio service may be imagined from the fact that the department has more than $25,000,000 invested in this undertaking. More than 8,000,000 words are transmitted monthly. Besides its own official business, the navy does $10,000,000 worth of commercial radio business annually.

Covers Globe

This naval radio business extends to all parts of the earth, over land and sea—and into the air! For each naval airplane also has a complete transmitting and receiving set by which it can communicate with its ship or land station or with other airplanes.

Along both our coasts and at points on our island possessions are naval radio-compass stations which form a chain of safety for ships at sea. There are more than 50 of these stations, all built up within the last three years.

By furnishing bearings to ships approaching the coast, these stations have helped considerably in saving lives, time and property. It is during foggy weather, or stormy seas, that a vessel seeking port finds the aid of the naval compass station most beneficial. For lying off port until the fog lifts or the storm calms means an expense of at least $500 to the ship owner.

Fleet Link

For the fleet, radio is an essential link. Emergencies, maneuvers and all sorts of utility work come under the direct orders of the naval department at Washington—by means of radio. There are some 650 naval ship stations, 102 naval airplane stations and 180 shore stations—all of which are joined together by radio. These stations are all over the globe, on possessions of the United States and at various points in the open sea.

Powerful stations they are, too. The station at The Presidio, near San Francisco, is one of the finest in the world. The first high-power continuous wave station was built by the U. S. navy in the Canal Zone in 1914. During the war naval engineers put up what is one of the world's most powerful stations at Bordeaux, France. This station has since been turned over to France.

MY PRAYER

The Election

ANYONE who is surprised by the outcome of the Tuesday primary lacks a clear sense of mass movements. The most casual survey of the state, its group and racial interests and prejudices, its after-the-war temper must have shown the initiated that Senator La Follette would sweep the state. There were issues adverse to him, it is true, but none of them could have been deemed of enough importance to overcome the general meeting of Senator La Follette's mind with the mind of the great mass of citizens.

* * * *

In the outcome there should be instruction for the progressives who were active in the Independent Citizens' committee. The lesson is that in Wisconsin a formidable number of recognized progressives can not hold public confidence as long as they associate with men known to oppose trade unionism and farm movements tending toward pronounced liberalism. If but one "reactionary" head bobs up, the people think the body and tail of "big business" is just beneath the surface. Probably as much as anything else, this was the undoing of Mr. Morgan. A militant "trust-buster," author of as much progressive legislation of a practical type as any man in the state, he found that from the moment he entered the 44 conference he was rated with the historic foes of Senator La Follette.

* * * *

The election showed that Wisconsin is not a dry state in the crusader sense. Wets flocked from all sides to the La Follette-Blaine ticket, but dry progressives did not desert the La Follette slate upon the issue. It is evident that there was no dry mass movement among women voters.

* * * *

Months ago this newspaper urged progressive leaders who had split with Senator La Follette over the war, and who formed the bulk of his opposition, not to back any nominee against the senior senator. His age made the plan a graceful gesture. His record did not lack achievements to justify it, and it could have been accompanied by deprecation of his war record and his reactionary adherence to the old idea of American isolation. Had this been done Senator La Follette would have been sufficiently honored, and he could not have pointed to his polyglot victory as an endorsement of his position upon international matters.

In other words, Wisconsin would not have been obliged to swallow the following statement, made by Senator La Follette, and the ensuing comment thereon by the Wisconsin Leader, organ of the Non-partisan league:

> I voted against the war, I stand here tonight to say to you that I wouldn't trade records with that of any man in public life today on the war. If I had it all to do over again I would do exactly the same thing. I thank God tonight that there is not a drop of blood of an American boy resting on me because of any vote I made to send them to war.—Robert M. La Follette.
>
> Senator La Follette's war record proves to be the thing that gives him the strongest grip upon the hearts of Wisconsin's citizens.—Wisconsin Leader. Nonpartisan Paper.

* * * *

This is not the only complication raised by the opportunity afforded Senator La Follette by his foredoomed opposition. The senator has declared for a departure from the system of checks and balances which has enabled this country to survive four wars and to lead the nations of the world in progress after less than 150 years of national existence. He urges that congress be empowered to veto decisions of the supreme court. And if Senator La Follette shall say that Wisconsin has overwhelmingly endorsed this idea, who can separate the thoughts of the voters and disprove his assertion? Who can deny that Wisconsin accepts with favor such socialistic ideas as are the fair implication of the hand-in-glove political positions of Senator La Follette and Victor Berger? Probably it was only election back-scratching, but how prove it?

* * * *

If mild surprise was created by any incident of the primary, probably it was the big lead of Governor Blaine over Mr. Morgan. We share the feeling of many who had followed his course that here was a new thing in progressive politics. Morgan had attacked the trusts, and found that in two years of successful work he had merely scratched the skin of the octopus. He was fired by the thought of what greater power he could wield as governor. He had knelt at the shrine of law enforcement. He had a vision of Washington and Lincoln, and perhaps of Christ. He was a crusader, fearless and independent. He offered something new and refreshing in a state whose politics seemed in a way to be felt rather than thought.

But the fall of Morgan can be seen and heard. Many progressives interpreted him, not by his record, but by certain ultra-conservative forces in the conference which endorsed him. On the other hand, a considerable number of conservative business men supported Governor Blaine, regarding his "secrecy clause" affair as a campaign gesture, and fearful of what the attorney general with fire in his eye and a way of doing things might think of next. Neither women, nor dry voters generally, rallied abundantly to Mr. Morgan. He was handcuffed to a ball and chain and thrown into the sea of politics. Had Morgan gone it alone, meeting both Governor Blaine and some conference choice for governor, it is probable that he would have gone further and fared better. Should his defeat retire him from Wisconsin politics, a wholesome influence will have been lost.

* * * *

Tuesday ended the political contest in Wisconsin. The November election will be but a formality. A fringe of disappointed republicans will vote against the La Follette ticket, or stay at home. But the bulk of the republican party, and a majority of independent voters, will respect the verdict of the primary majority. The election is as much over as it will be on the first Wednesday after the second Tuesday in November.

Therefore Governor Blaine is right in saying that the next important event will be the republican platform convention. The platform is an important thing, for in it will be set up the tasks which officials must perform. We hope it will not be a purely economic platform. It should not go upon the theory that politics has nothing to do but to minister to the comfort of the people. There is a conception of life in which the mental and spiritual state is more important than the purely physical. Not until this idea predominates will civilization have attained its stride. No movement that does not recognize it is truly progressive.

If the 1922 Wisconsin republican platform is to be genuinely progressive, it must not lack practical idealism. With efforts for the bodily welfare of people there must be the things to which well-to-do-ness opens the way. At the bed rock of these is the wider diffusion of education, an intellectual ascension that means to what people are what economic movements mean to what they have. Specialists like Kittle and Fitzpatrick are studying these things. They should be consulted, just as every economic plank should pass under the scrutiny of a trained economist. There was a time when social consciousness played a large part in the progressive movement. Today it is drifting toward materialism as smug as that of Wall street. Unless it shall have a new access of social inspiration, the progressive movement will lose its force and subside to the level of cattle at the mow.

A Weather Breeder

BY H. IRVING KING

With Philip Holt and Helen Carew the course of true love was running altogether too smoothly—there was not a ripple on the surface, not a shadow in the depths. They were deeply enamored of each other, her parents were pleased with the match, Philip had a good posotion, money of his own and expectations from his great aunt, an aged spinster, one Catherine Geoghan. In short the conditions were abnormal.

Any one at all weatherwise will tell you that there are sometimes days so superlatively beautiful that a severe storm may be looked for in the near future. Such days are called weather-breeders. One day Philip, who was calling upon Helen—he spent a good share of his time now at that occupation—said suddenly: "There! I forgot to write to Aunt Kate today. This was my day for writing her; but my head is so full of you that I forget everything else, you dear girl!"

"Sit right down there at my desk and write her now," replied Helen. "I'll play you some of that Harrigan and Hart music you like so well while you write."

A word about this rich Aunt Kate. A part of her time she spent on a farm she owned in New Hampshire and a part of her time in New York. Except that she was a rather eccentric body this was about all that Philip had told concerning her. Kate had never seen her; but they were to visit her on their wedding tour.

Helen seated herself at the piano and began these airs once so popular, presently breaking into song with "Love, bring out your orange blossoms, put on your snow-white veil," from "Cordelia's Aspirations." There was in the living room one of those dinky little writing desks which women adore and men execrate. Philip seated himself at it and wrote. He had completed his letter, put it in the envelope, sealed it and directed it when, so awkward was he in handling Helen's foolish little ivory-handled pen, a great glob of ink dropped on the face of the envelope. He tore off the ruined envelope, crumpled it up and threw it into the beribboned little waste-basket by the side of the desk, substituted another envelope, directed it, pressed it on the blotting pad, sealed the letter and put it in his pocket.

"There, that's done! Now come and talk to me," he said. It was late when Philip left. How desolate the living room looked to Helen after his departure.

"Dear Philip!" she sighed. Then her eye caught the discarded envelope—she had happened to be looking when he threw it away—and she picked it out of the basket and smoothed it out. And this is what met her eyes: "Miss Fifie La Tour," with the addition of a New York address.

Fifie La Tour! If that name did not suggest the footlights then nothing did. And he had said he was writing to his aunt! Out of the shadows which the piano lamp left lurking in the room the green-eyed monster crawled and seized upon Helen. She crept up to her room like a wounded dove with a broken wing.

During a wakeful night and the dreary morning hours that followed Helen did a lot of thinking, her mood alternating between tearful despair and righteous indignation.

Helen took a resolution. She informed her mother—her father was away on a business trip—that she was going to New York. She packed a traveling bag, put her month's allowance in her purse and departed. Arriving in the big city, she took a taxi and drove to the address of Miss Fifie La Tour, from whom she proposed to wrest the truth. The cave of the siren proved to be an old-fashioned dwelling stranded in that part of the metropolis once known as Chelsea Village. A neat housemaid admitted her when she frigidly demanded to see Miss La Tour.

It was an old-fashioned parlor into which she was shown, with "tidies" on the chairs; ghastly "enlarged crayon portraits" on the walls and a gift basket of wax fruit under a glass on the marble-topped table.

"These chorus girls do get up the respectable in a thorough manner," thought Helen. "I suppose there will be a respectably got up guardian to match the parlor."

There was a considerable delay, and then entered, to her, the most astonishing person upon whom she had ever set eyes. It was a little, bird-like old woman, dressed in many colors, be-flounced and befurbelowed. From an obvious wig yellow curls hung down to her shoulders, and keen, merry old eyes looked out over heavily rouged cheeks from either side of a very beak of a nose.

Helen half expected her to go pecking at the wax cherries under the glass globe on the center table. She came in with a motion half flying, half dancing; her feet, clad in the tightest of white slippers, seemed scarcely to touch the floor.

"I beg pardon," said Helen starting up, "I wish to see Miss La Tour."

"Well, my dear, you see her—all that's left of her, anyway. There was a time when people paid big money for seats to see Fifie La Tour. But that was years and years ago. One can't be young forever, though I do pretty well at it, don't you think, my pretty dear?"

"Do you know," stammered the bewildered Helen, "a young man named Philip Holt?"

"Know him?" cried the old lady. "Why, he's my nevvy."

"You—you can't—be Aunt Kate?" gasped Helen.

"And why not, pray? And whom might you be, you little ducky?"

"I—I'm Helen, he's going to marry," faltered the girl. And then she just broke down and shed tears—tears of repentance for her own mistrust of her lover and tears of pleasure that Philip was guiltless—and told her whole little story. The funny little old woman fairly crackled with laughter; she picked up her skirts and executed the most astonishing pas de seuls; Helen was really afraid she would come to pieces. Then sinking into a chair and catching her breath she said, "This is just too delicious. It's years and years since Fifie La Tour has been mixed up in a love affair before, but in my day, my dear, thousands of women were frantically jealous of me, I am sure. La, la! And here I am over 80 and still suspected of being a siren." Then, in a serious tone, she went on: "You see, my dear, I was once a ballet dancer—La Tour was my stage name, and I still keep it for general use and have all my letters so addressed. I know I am an old fool, but it helps me to pretend to myself that I am still young.

"Philip has never told you that I used to be a dancer at courts. That was a subject tabooed among the Holts and the Geoghans—when they were alive, I mean. All dead now. All gone and under the sod. All but Philip." And a great tear slid down one of the rouged and wrinkled cheeks.

When Philip reached his lodgings that night he found a telegram from Helen awaiting him, saying: "Am on a visit to Aunt Kate. Will be home tomorrow."

He could scarcely wait for the morrow to know what it all meant. But the morrow came, and with it Helen and her explanation and confession. She forgave him, of course. In these matters it is always the man who gets jockeyed into the position of being forgiven, and the course of their true love went running smoothly on again. Among the wedding presents was a beautiful silver tea service from "Miss Fifie La Tour."

BROKERS MUST HAVE LICENSES TO SELL LOTS IN CEMETERY

MADISON, Wis.—A license to sell lots in a cemetery is required of Wisconsin real estate brokers, the attorney general's department ruled Friday.

"It is my opinion that the ownership of a cemetery for charity carries with it an interest in real estate," R. M. Hoyt, deputy attorney general, said, in his opinion.

The state law requires every dealer in real estate to have a license before doing business. Mr. Hoyt gave it as h's opinion that the sale of a cemetery lot was the sale of real estate and that a dealer therefore cannot conduct a sale without a license from the state board.

SCANDAL IS RIFE AMONG THE BIRD INHABITANTS OF YELLOWSTONE PARK

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo.—Excitement is rife in the wild animal community of the park since the scandal about Mr. Pelican received public attention. The ducks are quacking about it, the squirrels are chattering it and the bob-cats are scattering it broadcast in their shrill voices.

Throughout all the whispers and nudges of neighbors as he passes, Mr. Pelican maintains his stately mien, seemingly unconscious of the jibes of the multitude. His actions would indicate he still holds his valued place in the community.

His trouble started with the charge by Prof. Henry B. Ward, head of the department of Zoology of the University of Illinois, that he is a trout "hog" and violator of all the tenets of good sportsmanship. Proof of these charges probably will mean that Mr. Pelican will become an outcast with everyone's door closed to him and everyone's hand against him.

Professor Ward is conducting an exhaustive investigation for the federal bureau of fisheries at Lake Yellowstone in Yellowstone National Park as to the relationship between the pelican and the trout supply. His investigation, which has been progressing several weeks, will continue through the present season.

The flock of pelicans that live and breed on Lake Yellowstone numbers about 400. They "summer" aristocratically at the lake, feasting on the best the land affords from spring until September, then go to their winter resorts along the gulf of Mexico.

The bird diets almost exclusively on fish, and, so far as the Yellowstone and other Rocky Mountain lakes and streams are concerned, this means exclusively on trout. He estimates that the 400 pelicans consume more trout than are taken during an entire season by sportsmen.

The pelican is no respecter of size limits or open seasons, Professor Ward charges. He declared he had seen a platoon of 36 pelicans ranged across a stream in regular formation, preying on the trout as they swam up to spawn. Hitherto the stream had yielded trout eggs by the millions but hatcherymen this year could gather only a fraction of the normal amount.

The fact is granted that Mr. Pelican's home life is above reproach. He is a good provider, a good husband and father and is strictly monogamous. For the 400 birds in the Lake Flock, there are just 200 nests; one for each couple and one mate for each bird. There are no "triangles" in the Yellowstone "400."

If further investigations justify it, Professor Ward will ask the federal government to bar the pelicans as summer visitors from the Park.

"He hasn't any business head."
"He's much too fat," or else "Too slim."
"Why didn't she take Bill instead?"
"I don't see what she sees in him!"
And his companions, dour and grim,
Greet all her actions with a slur,
And sigh, while tears their eyes be dim,
"I don't see what he sees in her!"

"My dear, her senses must have fled,
He isn't in the social swim."
"Her future fills me full of dread."
"I don't see what she sees in him!"

POTATO GROWERS OF NATION CALLED TO MEET AT CHICAGO

Seek Measures to Overcome Demoralized Condition of Potato Market

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—Potato growers of the country are invited to meet at Chicago September 15 to adopt "some measures to overcome the present demoralized market conditions," according to Thomas O'Neill, president of the California Vegetable union.

The union has sent invitations to similar associations in Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota and thirty other states.

"Demoralized potato market conditions are general throughout the country," said Mr. O'Neill, "and are causing enormous loss to growers as the price obtained is far below cost of production and, in many instances even below cost of harvesting."

Decrease of shipments fifty percent in the next week was suggested as a temporary solution.

MISSOURI RIVER IS TROUBLESOME COULD BE BETTER

River Requires Intelligent Appropriations to Make it Pay Big Dividends

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—What might be a great artery of commerce, co-ordinated with the transportation system of the country, is going to waste for lack of development, and instead of being a benefit to the Missouri valley, is an actual menace and the authority for the statement as to its possibilities is Major G. V. Wilkes, Engineering corps, United States army. Major Wilkes, who recently has been relieved as Missouri river army engineer in order to attend the school of the staff at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., is much interested in the possibilities of the Missouri river.

All the river requires, according to the major, is a consistent and intelligent expenditure of appropriations to pay rich dividends, both in transportation and land.

"Proper development of the river, under such a plan as was worked out by the war department in 1912, Major Wilkes said, "and which would have been completed this year, had the work been able to proceed, would have made a navigable stream of the Missouri from Kansas City to the mouth; would have made possible the transportation of thousands of tons of grain, coal and other commodities, and would have resulted in the reclamation of thousands of acres of the richest bottom farm land in the world."

The development scheme was never completed, however, and today the Missouri river, full of snags, sand bars and eddies is virtually without navigation of any kind, according to the major. As the appropriations available are very small, Major Wilkes explained, it also has been impossible to prevent the river from cutting its own banks in places and destroying farm land.

VILLAGE SUCCESS COUNTS

The national economic research bureau found that 88 out of every 100 men in this country have an income of less than $2,000 a year. Those who earn $10,000 are about one-tenth of 1 per cent.

If one is not compelled to pay a big rent, $2,000 a year may bring every reasonable comfort. But how many who earn $10,000 in a great city could earn even $2,000 in a village? It appears that one must come nearer to delivering value in a small place.

Think of all the liveried apartment house door men, eyebrow pluckers and washroom brush boys, to say nothing of high salaried publicity agents, assistant vice presidents, and such. What chance would there have in a sensible village or on a farm, where everybody engages in definite toil?—Fred Kelly, in The Nation's Business.

HER CURIOSITY

The audience held its breath with amazement as the aerobat swung high above the rostrum, held only by a frail cord looped around one foot. Somewhere among the spectators a little girl arose from her seat. "Mama," she shouted, breaking the silence, "can you do that?"

The lady tried to quiet her, but the child persisted in demanding whether or not her mother had ever climbed ropes or done anything of this ort. At last, embarrassed by the attention which the child was attracting, the mother jerked the child into the seat, warning, "You just wait until I get home!"

"Oh!" exclaimed the little disturber, "then your gonna try it?"—Judge.

The Ruling Passion

"Fore," yelled the golfer. The lady who was in his way paid no attention.

"Three ninety-eight," he yelled.

Immediately she jumped up and took notice.

OHIO WOMEN BAND FOR SYSTEMATIC SAVING

BY MARIAN HALE

Eighty-five per cent of the money in circulation passes through women's hands.

Statistics show that they get about 33 1-3 per cent value for every dollar they spend.

Common sense shows there is a big leak somewhere.

To locate this and remedy it, the women of Dayton, Ohio, are undertaking a thrift campaign for three months, which will include a systematic study of buying, budgeting and saving.

Mrs. Edith McClure-Patterson, who is organizing the work in Dayton and is chairman of thrift for the federated women's clubs of the state of Ohio, explained the plan to me.

Every Home on Budget

"We aim to put every home on a budget," she announced, "but by budgeting we don't mean an elaborate system of bookkeeping or the keeping of a slavish record of every cent that is spent.

"We mean a systematic reconciliation of the income and the expenses in order to gain the greatest happiness and pleasure as well as to get the utmost value for every cent expended.

"Different incomes and living conditions require individual budgeting, but here is a good division with which to start. Out of every dollar spend:

"25 per cent for food.

"20 per cent for clothing.

"20 per cent for shelter.

"10 per cent for upkeep.

"15 per cent for self-advancement and pleasure.

"10 per cent for saving.

"A housekeeper may adjust these proportions until they fit her needs most comfortably.

Must be "Business"

"When women will regard the management of a home as just as important an item as the management of a factory they will get the thrill from housekeeping men get from business.

"In Dayton we are carrying on the campaign through the women's clubs, banks, merchants and the press. The banks are co-operating by making out budgets, and giving us their speakers to tell us about various financial problems. Stores have offered their buyert so tell us about value of produce and the time and conditions under which to buy most advantageously. Schools, churches and papers are promoting our propaganda of saving.

"We will carry our plan throughout the state by means of the women's clubs and we hope to make it nationwide."

Mrs. Patterson is a niece of the late John H. Patterson, and it was through his influence that she undertook welfare and social work.

MRS. EDITH M'CLURE-PATTERSON

UNDER THE CAPITOL DOME

Odds and Ends of State Affairs by William J. Anderson

MADISON, Wis.—For a time at least politics may be eschewed, the primary over, and attention given to other important subjects. There has not been enough said about the enormous crops which farmers are harvesting in Wisconsin. No crop has failed, nor has there been a partial failure of any this year. From hay to corn everything has yielded abundantly, including the orchards. The problem of transporting these great crops to market has not become acute yet, except in anticipation and we can enjoy the abundance for a month or two without worry.

Concerning the fuel question, there is a real ground for anxiety. The probability is that with the mines in operation Wisconsin and states northwest of her will experience no actual suffering from failure to get coal, but the danger lies in the extortionate prices which the situation makes possible. This is the point at which the most conservative citizen desires to see the government exert itself. No harm can result where either the state or federal government interferes in price making only to prevent extortions; and serious results may follow if there be not such interference.

The state department of markets has declared its intention to prevent the charging of unreasonable prices for fuel, but it can have no power where the extortion is charged at the mines or before the fuel is assigned to Wisconsin dealers. It can only prevent the making of undue profits on coal after it reaches the state. The situation calls for action by the federal authorities.

No figures are available to indicate how the farmer is to come out this year with his big crops. There is a very general murmur over the state indicating that the good crops cannot bring prices to remunerate the farmer. There are a number of reasons given for this by the farmers themselves and by the economists who study agriculture, but none of them tend to relieve the situation. In view of the pretty clearly defined buying capacity of those who consume the farmers' products it is pretty safe to say that regardless of whether present prices for agricultural products adequately remunerate the farmer, or do not, consumers will not pay prices greatly in excess of the present ones. They will reduce consumption first, and this would bring about a lowering of prices. It would seem, therefore, that the problem is up to the farmer to reduce in some way the cost of production, so as to be able to realize a reasonable profit from the present range of prices. Very naturally the farmers will say they cannot reduce costs, but he may be able to do so if it is up to him to produce at a loss or reduce.

The attorney general has informed the commissioner of banking that a bank which increases the value of its banking house on its books from $125,000 to $250,000 without changing its capital or surplus does an illegal act.

The attorney general has informed the state board of health that a person suffering from a venereal disease who refuses to submit to treatment can be committed to a state or county institution for treatment, just as an insane person can be committed. The process is virtually the same.

The state board of health has recently published a neat little book of over 200 pages, containing the state plumbing code. The book was compiled by Frank R. King, domestic sanitary engineer, and plumbing inspector for the board. The book really constitutes a complete hand-book of plumbing, being very fully illustrated. It will prove a valuable and necessary guide to plumbers, and to farmers, and to people of sparsely settled communities where there are no resident plumbers. The book can be had by sending for it to the state board of health.

WAVE OF ECONOMY HITS THE JAPANESE ROYAL HOUSEHOLD

Minister Decides to Reduce Number of Ladies-in-Waiting

TOKIO—Even the royal household of Japan is being affected by the wave of economy which is passing over the country as a result of the economical depression. Viscount Makino, minister of the imperial household, has decided to reduce the number of ladies-in-waiting, who, it is alleged exceed in number the requirements of the empress and imperial princesses. The system of court ladies now in vogue was established in the early years of the Meiji era, and never has been changed. There are 18 high class ladies, 30 ladies of han-nin rank, 10 ladies accorded han-nin privileges, and altogether about 140 employees. These women rank as follows:

The shoki, of the shin-nin rank-imperial appointment, tenji, gon tenki, shoki, gon shoki, myobu, gon myobu, all of whom are high-class ladies of the imperial court; the joju and gon joju, who are of the han-nin rank. Each of these ladies has from one to several women employed as servant.

These formidable court ladies have held sway in the section of the imperial houhold where men are not permitted to control. The majority came from the families of titled nobility, the priests of the Kamo, the Sumiyoshi and other notable Shinto shrines or other distinguished families. The ladies above the rank of Myobu were given the names of Genji, while ladies coming from titled nobility were given the names of two characters and those from the samurai families names of one character. The salary of the first class teni is 5,000 yen a year and that of the second class 4,000 yen, which is larger than many of the officials of the imperial household department.

As the prince regent aims at economy of his household, the minister of the imperial house is reported to have drafted a new system of court ladies. It is understood that the number of ladies will be limited to five or six. The choice of the ladies to serve the imperial court has been entrusted to Baron Omori and Count Chinda, the two chief attendants on the empress and the prince regent, respectively.

Infected Sebum

95% of all hair troubles are traced to infected Sebum.

Sebum is an oil. It forms at the roots of hair. Its natural function is to supply the hair with oil.

But frequently it becomes infected. It cakes on the scalp. It plugs the follicles and chokes them. It forms a breeding place for bacteria—germs by the millions feed upon the hair and destroy it.

It invites semi-baldness. Soon total baldness follows. But it does not kill the hair root. Remove the infected Sebum—normal hair growth is resumed. This is scientific fact. We guarantee results in writing.

Now Science Overcomes It

The Van Ess treatment combats the infected Sebum and removes it. It penetrates to the follicles of the hair. It revives dormant hair roots and grows new hair.

We urge you to try it.

Obtain it at your druggist's. Your money returned if results are not obtained.

RELIGIOUS FORCES UNITING TO SAVE ARMENIAN PEOPLE

Action Taken by Official Bodies of Six Church Organizations

WASHINGTON.—Religious forces throughout the country are massing to save the Armenians from further persecution at the hands of the Turks.

Action has been taken, according to the Federal Council of Churches, by the official bodies of the Northern Baptist Convention, the General Convention of the Church of the Brethren, the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, the United Presbyterian Assembly, the Church of the United States of America and the General Ministerial Assembly of the Church of God.

A petition asking action in the matter was presented to President Harding recently by the Commission on International Justice and Goodwill of the Federal Council of Churches, with which are affiliated 30 communions. After pointing out that the Armenians were our allies in the great war, that America and the Allies pledged the Armenians a safe area in which to live and that special responsibility for protecting them has been referred to the League of Nations, the petition says, "America cannot escape her responsibility upon the ground of nonmembership in the League."

The Federal Council's petition in closing declares: "What specifically the Government of the United States may and should do is not for us to indicate. But we may appropriately let you know that our Churches earnestly desire that America should fulfill her pledges and obligations and would, we are firmly convinced, loyally support our Administration in accepting definite responsibilities for the assistance and protection of that ancient Christian people.

"The United States and all the Allied Nations should keep faith with Armenia.

"The world's sympathy should find expression in action."

UNIVERSITY HEALTH COURSES DEVELOPED IN THE PHILIPPINES

College of Medicine Brought up to Standard and Nursing Colleges Established

MANILA, P. I.—(By the Associated Press)—Bringing the college of medicine and surgery of the University of the Philippines up to the recognized standard of class "A" colleges of this sort in the United States by revision of the college curriculum, and the establishment of a central nursing school that will double the number of trained nurses graduated annually in the Philippines, are two of the important measures regarding public health and the control of disease that have come about from the work of Dr. Victor G. Heiser, far eastern representative of the Rockefeller Foundation, since his arrival here three months ago.

Dr. Heiser summarized what has been done in a report to Governor General Wood and the director of health. He invited attention to the fact that the health activities of the Philippines are not centralized under one department secretary, as he believes they should be, and he therefore recommends that the legislation to do this, which failed of passage in the last legislature, be brought up again.

The international health board has furnished the services of Dr. Charles N. Leach to the Philippine government for health work, of Dr. W. S. Carter as assistant dean of the college of medicine and surgery and professor of physiology, of Miss Alice Fitzgerald as consultant in nursing and of D. W. Tiedeman as sanitary engineer in charge of field studies in malaria which have been undertaken in the province of Laguna.

MAILMATTER SHOT THROUGH AIR

A scheme by which the postal time between London and Paris may be reduced to an hour or perhaps less is being worked out by M. Loth, a French scientist. His scheme calls for the construction of a projectile-shaped container with wings to sustain it in flight and a motor to be supplied by wireless methods with currents emanating from a line on the surface of the ground. This container will automatically pursue its way through the air without deviation from a given course, at a given height and at a great speed, its control being entirely automatic. M. Loth has worked out many of the most important details but the scheme yet remains to be perfected. The plans have been submitted to scientists and inventors who think it is entirely feasible.

The monument, about 8 feet in height, bears the inscription:

"On this spot on Sunday, August 2, 1914, at 10 a. m.—more than 30 hours before she declared war on France, and while the Republic, in order to avoid all cause for conflict, had withdrawn her covering troops ten miles within the French frontier line—Imperial and Royal Germany shed the first French blood."

HATED CENTIPEDE IS A FRIEND, NOT FOE, EXPERIMENTS SHOW

Bite no Worse than that of Bee, and Spider Lives Mainly Upon Insect Pests

HONOLULU, T. H.—The centipede shunned, feared and abhorred enemy of the residents of Hawaii, who can cause a small panic by merely appearing in sight, really is a friend according to University of Hawaii investigations, because he subsists mainly on other pestiferous insects, mainly mosquitoes and cockroaches, thus decreasing the hordes of those bugs.

The results of the investigation, made public in an extension letter, showed that the centipede, whose bite is feared because of many tales of its death-bringing qualities, is not vicious and is retiring in disposition except when he is attacked or thinks he is. Then he has fairly potent means of defense in the feelers in his fore-feet with which he inflicts his "bite." But his bite is no more serious usually than that of a bee or wasp, the university letter said.

PROCESSION OF WINE BOTTLES

What would be a rare sight for the native of a prohibition country is the procession of bottles which takes place annually in the town of Boulbon, Aramin Province, France, which is the red wine district. On St. Marcellin's day, June 1, in the evening, with the town bells ringing, all the men and men only in the town congregate, each one carrying a bottle of his choicest wine and they march to a church in a remote part of the village. Here a ceremony takes place over the bottles, during which each man takes a sip of his wine and then returns to his home. The wine is put away to be opened only in a case of sickness or some urgent emergency. Other bottles of the same crop are, however, made use of for domestic purposes.

THE SECRET OF THE VITAMINES

There's a good deal of mystery about the vitamines which are regarded as so essential to health. They are found in rather generous numbers in corn and from experiments on growing grain it was concluded that the vitamines were either produced by the sun as chlorophyl or that the production of vitamines depends upon the chlorophyl. This does not however, seem to be consistent with the fact that they are found in the greatest known concentration in the oil of the liver of the cod fish, which, however, live so deep in the sea as to get very little benefit of the sun's rays. The cod lives exclusively upon a fish diet and it is barely possible that the vitamines are passed to the cod in the clams and other fish food which it eats.

THE WAY A WORD IS MADE

"Dope" comes from the Dutch "doop," which in English originally meant a thick liquid or semi-liquid. It was regularly used as a term for the treacle-like preparation of the opium smoker. Later the word passed into American slang, and was used to mean drugging either to stupefy or to exhilarate.

From the states the word has passed to England, and again its meaning has broadened, the term including drugs, given through the mouth or injected from a syringe.

It seems likely to pass permanently into language as a synonym for drugs of all sorts, artificially exciting or stupefying, which are taken unlawfully and without proper medical sanction.

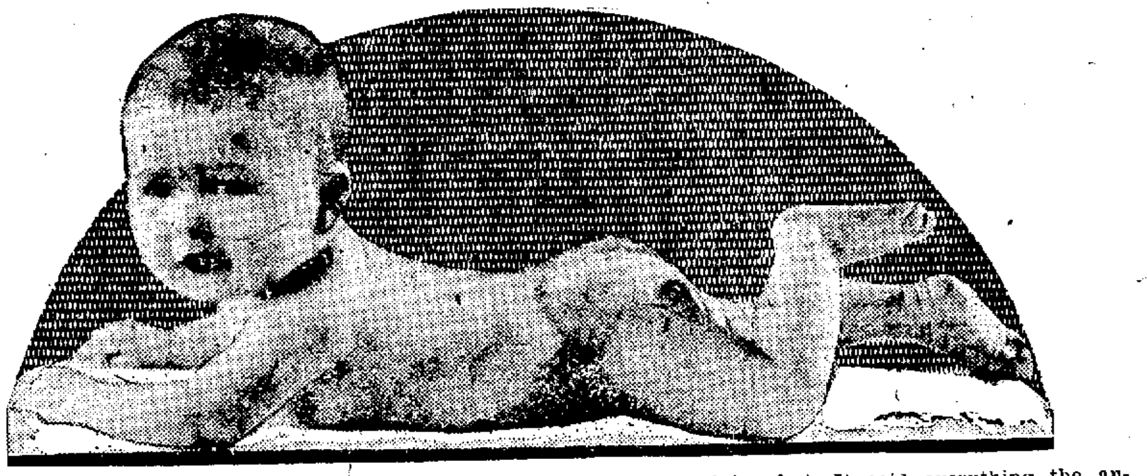
YOUNGEST BUSINESS WOMAN, A MODEL AT 4 MONTHS



By MARION HALE

In this fast age one must not linger even over one's babyhood if one is to achieve.

This is the philosopsy of Dawn Bedan, who at the age of 90 days made her debut as a wage earner and today is the world's youngest professional woman.

Though Miss Bedan had very little to say during our interview and could not be induced to talk about herself she smiled her famous smile and corroborated the rumor that she is the baby who never cries.

She is not quite four months old, but she is self-supporting. True, at four months one's support is not a serious matter if one has a mother and food and raiment have not assumed the proportions they later achieve, so Dawn is banking money besides.

Her career is on a sound financial basis, and probably she would say that the first 90 days were the hardest. But she spends most of her time with her mother when not engaged in professional work and leads the simplest life.

Dawn is a professional model. She lives in New York.

Having achieved a reputation as the baby who never cried, Dawn developed something constructive in the way of a 50-watt, 120-volt smile, guaranted to brighten up the world's darkest corner.

About this time someone had written a song, "Why Should I Cry Over You?" and wanted a model for the cover, someone that would flash back the answer, "Why, indeed?"

The author hunted far and wide for a girl with a smile that would do that. Many applied, flappers, subdebs, vamps and baby vamps. But none quite filled the bill. Their smiles were too knowing or too mechanical, or too something.

Then Dawn came. Her smile was perfect. It said everything the author wanted. So she got the job.

Up to that time Dawn had given the future little thought, having had so little present and past, but, of course, she expected as a modern young feminist to be self-supporting if the necessity arose.

But her fame as a model spread and requests poured in upon her to pose for young women's clothes and accessories and she was so burdened with opportunities that after a consultation with her mother, who acts as her business manager, it was decided she might undertake a limited number of engagements.

Of course, she is always carefully chaperoned and works only for short periods.

Her smile has lost none of its spontaneity and Dawn's future looks bright. She's tremendously interested in her career, and when she gets a little older she'll be glad to tell you about herself.

TOBACCO COMPANIES APPEAL FROM COURT ANTI-TRUST RULING

Action Involves Test of Constitutionality of Wisconsin Statutes

LA CROSSE FIRM AMONG THE COMPANIES TAKING APPEAL

Lorillard Company Party to Action in Supreme Court

MADISON, Wis.—Test of the constitutionality of Wisconsin's anti-trust laws is involved in an appeal taken to the Wisconsin supreme court Friday by the American Tobacco company, the P. Lorillard company, and others from a decision of Judge W. B. Quinlan of Marinette, upholding validity of the statutes.

Appeal is taken on the ground that the legislature had no authority to grant exemption from provisions of the anti-trust laws to farm, labor and co-operative organizations.

It is pointed out by G. F. Clifford, special assistant attorney general, that should the supreme court uphold the contention of the tobacco companies, the basis would be laid for a possible action against the Northern Wisconsin Tobacco pool with the complaint that through its co-operative marketing arrangements competition was being hampered.

Arguments on the appeal will be heard by the court within the next two months.

Attack U. S. Injunction

WASHINGTON.— Labor leaders here were awaiting Friday the outcome of their first legal move against the injunction obtained by the government in Chicago last Friday against the striking railway shop crafts—the suit of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers one of the striking organizations to prevent the federal authorities from enforcing locally the provisions of the Chicago order.

The suit, filed in the District of Columbia supreme court Thursday and set for hearing Saturday assailed the legality of the Chicago injunction, questioned the jurisdiction of the Chicago court, and denied that the plaintiffs had been guilty of any illegal act "before or since" July 1. The electrical workers were said to have acted without reference to other organizations on strike in filing the petition, but officials of the union said they expected both the temporary order, which they hoped would issue tomorrow, and the permanent writ also sought would have a nation-wide scope.

Opens Door to Complications

Department of justice officials expressed the opinion unofficially that if the supreme court should grant the temporary restraining order it would lead to wide possibilities of injunctions and restraining orders granted by that court under the Sherman and Clayton acts being upset by courts of other jurisdictions.

Meanwhile it appeared certain that administration conferences had led to the conclusion that provisions of the Chicago injunction, which have been interpreted as tending to interfere with "free speech," might be modified in the permanent injunction when and if granted, without sacrificing the board purposes of the suit.

The force of the shock was so great that the kitchen stove was shattered and splinters from the floor were found entangled in Mrs. Christiansen's hair.

STUDENT SHOOTS AT AUTO BELIEVING IT TO BE MILLERAND'S

Goes to Palace With Letter for French President But Denies Murderous Intent

PARIS.—By the Associated Press.—Georges Salem, an Egyptian student, fired a shot at an automobile in front of the Palace Friday, believing the car to be President Millerand's. The shot went wild. President Millerand was at his country residence at Rambouillet at the time.

Salem, who is 19 years old, was seized by a guard as he fired the shot. The student collapsed, failing as if in a faint, apparently thinking he had been shot.

Carrying a small brown satchel, Salem came to the palace and asked for President Millerand, explaining to the guard who questioned him, that he had a letter for the president.

Noting a somewhat dazed look in Salem's face, the guard suspected the man was mentally unbalanced, and took the letter, promising to deliver it to the president personally.

At this the youth suddenly inquired if the president's carriage had left the palace, he apparently not knowing that M. Millerand was at Rambouillet. The guard unthinkingly replied that the automobile had just left.

Salem then quickly drew a small revolver of an obsolete type and fired point blank at a car that had happened to pass in the front. At the same instant the guard seized Salem's arm violently and the youth collapsed.

The young man had a passport issued by the French legation in Cairo. He denied intending to shoot the president. He had written to M. Millerand for money when he failed to receive funds from his Egyptian relatives but as the president failed to reply he had gone to the palace intending to commit suicide in the presence of the president as a form of protest against the president's indifference.

GOING UP-GRADE TOWARD PROSPERITY

BY ROY GIBBONS.

CHICAGO, Ill.—We're upward bound on prosperity's incline. Big wages paid during the war once more will become the order of the day. Unemployment is soon to cease entirely. Clear the industrial decks for an immediate resumption of business.

Thus says Halbert P. Gillette, editor of Engineering and Contracting, and well known financial expert of Chicago.

He bases his prognosis on these factors:

"Increase of per capita money which must result from leveling our tremendous gold reserve to a 50-50 basis with other currency.

"Booming of wages in proportion to the increase of per capita money."

Complete return to good times will be fully accomplished within the next three years, with conditions steadily improving up to that time, he says. But commodity prices, including rents and other necessities, will also reach a new advanced level.

"Judged by past business cycles, we shall experience rising prices and wages for the next two or three years. I look to see a rise of about 30 per cent—possibly more—within that time," Gillette says.

How to Figure It

"This must result, because our per capita money in circulation has nearly always equalled twice our per capita gold. And at present our per capita money is only 50 per cent more than our per capita gold. Therefore it is entirely safe to assume that, as times improve and federal reserve bank notes flow back into circulation, our per capita money will increase about one-third above the present $49.17 level, bringing it to about $65, or about 80 per cent above the 1913 level.

"In this manner, the normal ratio of gold to money will be restored. The process is automatic and might well be called irrevocable.

"And in ratio to the increase of our per capita money our wage level, too, will also rise 30 per cent, or 80 per cent above 1914 standards.

"Before wages rise, however, wholesale prices will advance, as they are more susceptible of changes in demand and supply. Retail prices will come next, and then wages.

"Common and unskilled labor will be first to show a marked upward trend. Already it has risen in many localities. And average wholesale prices have risen nine per cent, as shown by government reports, since the first of the present year.

The Controlling Factor

"As wages rise due to an increase in per capita money, nothing can effect a reduction of commodity prices—which I forecast will advance from the present level of 150 above the normal year of 1914, taken by all statisticians as the '100' year, to 180 or 200 per cent—save an increase in productive efficiency.

"This will mean an increase of probably 80 or 100 per cent above the 1913 and 1914 year levels.

"My method of arriving at such conclusions very likely will seem new to most economists because I have taken only secondary notice of bank clearings as compared to per capita money in a comparison with wage levels.

"But from my observation and research it has proved almost self-evident that per capita money, that is the money per inhabitant in circulation in America, is, and always has been, the controlling factor of both wages and commodity prices.

"Hence if per capita money increases 20 per cent and if times are normal (neither good nor bad), the wage level will rise 20 per cent.

"Silk shirt days are coming back. Tell the worker to save his surplus this time, because after the tip-top peak has been reached, we'll go down the toboggan again. There can be no prosperity stabilization while the balance of trade is in our favor and our gold reserve holds out."

Gillette successfully predicted the drop in commodity prices from 247 above the 1914 level when they rose to that peak in June of 1920.

U. S. DISTRIBUTES FREE EXPLOSIVES FOR FARM WORK

Supply of Picric Acid Available to Agriculturists Upon Application to Government

WASHINGTON.—By the Associated Press.—The attention of farmers in all sections of the country to the free distribution of excess war explosives for farm work, is called by the United States department of agriculture. Since last fall the department, in co-operation with the various state agricultural colleges, has distributed 3,000,000 pounds of picric acid, a surplus explosive which is very efficient, easy and safe to handle.

In Minnesota the state agricultural college reports:

"We feel that picric acid has been a great benefit to the state and has done a great deal to stimulate land clearing. All reports are to the effect that its use has been highly satisfactory. The 774,000 pounds allotted to Minnesota were distributed to 3,611 farmers, averaging 222 pounds per farmer. We estimate that this will clear 35,000 acres of land, and has made a saving of over $70,000 for the farmers of the state."

The economy of this explosive is emphasized by the department in a recent circular showing that last fall's distribution saved the farmers about $300,000 over the cost of other explosives. There are now available some 6,000,000 pounds of picric acid, and of this amount about 1,500,000 are available to each of the lake states, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Picric acid is a high explosive which was used in large quantities during the war and is now being distributed to farmers for agricultural purposes, says the department. No charge is made by the government for the explosive itself, but as it has to be dried out and cartridged before it can be used for peaceful uses the cost of this work must be paid by the farmers.

Picric acid is a comparatively safe explosive and is used in the same way that other agricultural explosives are used. It has several advantages over commercial explosives in that it keeps indefinitely without deteriorating, it is not affected by heat or cold, and it does not cause headaches or other ill effects when used in the open air. Because of its greater cost of manufacture, it will never be a competitor of commercial dynamites. It is being distributed for the purpose of increasing interest and activity in land clearing. The details of the method of distribution may be secured from the various agricultural colleges.

WOMEN IN EGYPT HAVE UPHILL FIGHT FOR THE FRANCHISE

Men Inclined to Look With Disfavor Upon Women's Appeal for the Vote

CAIRO, Egypt.—The members of the first Egyptian parliament, under the new constitution, are to be elected in October and already political interest, not to say excitement, is running high.

All men over 25 years of age are entitled to vote. Women, nevertheless, are in no sense idle. They are making a good fight for the franchise, even though the odds are greatly against them, for Egyptian men look upon their women kind as possessions rather than co-workers in life.

The president of the The Mothers of the Future of Egypt is Madame Aneeseh Hanum el Rasheedy. Speaking on the emancipation of her sex recently she said: "The women of Egypt should be allowed to vote because they are fit for it. We shall soon win our fight because the Koran and the world are on our side. The Koran says: 'The women ought to behave towards their husbands in like manner as their husbands should behave toward them, according to what is just.'

"It is absurd to allow a citizen to exercise the franchise merely because he is of the male sex, while highly educated Egyptian women, from Princesses downwards, are to have no say in legislation on questions that affect them equally with the rest of the population. The civilized nations already have adapted the principle of woman suffrage. Egypt cannot afford to drag behind and still maintain her prestige in the eyes of those nations."

The men, at the present time, are inclined to dismiss the aspirations of the women with the generality that the average woman in Egypt today does not possess the qualifications necessary to intelligent voting.

Political parties which have been dormant during the British occupation are awakening, and with them is coming the revival of old animosities. The followers of Zaghloul Pasha, the deported Nationalist leader, are particularly bitter against the present government.

The city vote will count large in the coming contest. To the poor peasants, or fellaheen, the new parliament means little or nothing. To them all rulers and officials are pests, to be endured as well as may be. They are ignorant, and are interested in nothing outside of their villages. Hence they offer opportunities to unscrupulous politicians. "To educate the people to some idea of their political responsibility," says a local daily, "is absolutely necessary if the future political power is not to find its way to the hands of men whose only interest is personal gain."

FLEA TO METHODISTS ASKS FOR FUNDS TO MEET WORLD CRISIS

Members of Church Asked to Donate Tenth of Income to Centenary Fund

CHICAGO, Ill.—An appeal to all Methodists to donate a tenth of their income to meet the crisis caused by the forces which were declared to threaten civilization is made by the board of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church in an open letter to the ministry and membership.

The funds, it is explained, would be used by the Methodist centenary movement. The appeal says the demand is urgent and that "the destiny of the world hinges upon Christianity. The destiny of Christianity hinges largely upon Protestantism. The destiny of Protestantism will be largely influenced by Methodism's failure or success at this time."

The letter, which is signed by Bishop J. F. Berry of Philadelphia, W. F. McDowell of Washington, D. C., F. M. Bristol, Chattanooga, Tenn., C. T. Locke, Manila, P. I., and W. F. Anderson of Cincinnati, reads in part as follows:

"Our world is summoned to meet the issue of its moral destiny. The crisis this hour transcends immeasurably the military crisis of the period of the war. Then men feared those who had power to kill the body; now men stand awed and fearsome in the presence of forces which threaten this civilization body and soul into [illegible].

"Humanity must make a new start. This time it must build upon the divine principles of justice and good will. It was a vision glorious. The church caught it and accepted the challenge with what seemed a divine passion.

"Just as the movement had attracted the attention of the world, also the church cooled in its ardor and slackened in its enthusiasm. Now it is even suggested that the word 'centenary' is distasteful. Much has been made of the mistaken policy and procedure, but men of experience know that mistakes always mark momentous movements. It has declared that the frequent appeals for funds has produced irritation in many quarters.

"Surely it would not be unreasonable in this hour of the extreme peril of our Lord's kingdom throughout the world to ask that the members of the Methodist Episcopal church should meet the crisis by the gift of one-tenth of their income."

Les Miserables

The work of a choir director is hard, but it is not wholly without humor. Recently a man was telling of his experiences with the boy choir of an English cathedral. "I was teaching them," he said, "to chant the litany and flattered myself that we were coming along unusually well when I noticed the words they were chanting for the response. Every last one of them was saying, 'Lord, have mercy upon us, miserable singers!' Surely it was true enough of most of them."—Youth's Companion.

NO QUARTER IN ITALIAN WAR

ROME.—War without quarter between the fascisti and communists is being waged throughout Italy.

More than one hundred are known to have been killed and at least 2,000 wounded in the past year, and the toll is growing as street fighting and anti-communist uprisings continue.

Disorders at Milan, Ancona, Leghorn, Venice and Genoa are reported. Nor have the provincial towns and villages escaped. Strictest secrecy is being maintained over the extent of the fighting, but it is known that outbreaks are occurring continually.

The civil war, which is an outgrowth of reprisals on the part of fascisti following early anti-communist activities shortly after the end of the great war, finds the government a non-participating third party. And this even though sporadic street fighting, ambushes, seizure and destruction of communist party property are frequent occurrences throughout the greater part of Italy.

Under leadership of Benito Mussolini, former socialist, the fascisti are gaining power by leaps and bounds.

Organized originally to combat the red terror after the armistice, its membership is now believed to be about 700,000 ex-soldiers, sworn enemies of the communists.

By direct action the order has forced a drastic cut in the cost of living. In accomplishing this rifles played an important part, according to report, as well as canes, clubs and fists.

In the annexed province of Venezia Giulia, foreign language schools, churches and printing plants have been confiscated, their teachers, pastors and editors either being driven out or intimidated.

The plan of the organization is based upon local units. The order is spread out in all parts of the country, the organization numbering from 20 to 60 adherents in the smaller towns to great units in the larger cities.

Each local group takes care of its immediate territory. If the situation is alarming, re-enforcements are sent from other districts, as in the general strike of two years ago when units of fascisti were continually on the move.

The strike was broken by the fascisti, who opened the shops and factories with workmen of their own groups heavily guarded by rifles of their comrades.

RUSSIAN SOVIET PLANS OLYMPIAD OF RED NATIONS

Revival of Athletic Activity Reported in Bolshevik Republic

MOSCOW.—A "Red Olympiad" is planned by Soviet authorities interested in athletics as Bolshevik Russia's contribution to the world of sport.

Despairing of securing admission to the Paris Olympic games in 1924, Russian athletes hope to be able to organize within a year or two an international competition of the best athletes from the Red Trade Unions and other communist organizations throughout the world. Proletarian sports, including soccer football, tugs of war, wrestling and field sports are to be featured.

Since the end of the civil war there has been a revival of athletic activity in Russia. Though participating in previous Olympic games, Russia was never noted as a nation where sports were loved. Instead of baseball or cricket the Russians had the ballet, and they rooted for their dancing favorites with all the vim that Americans displayed in cheering their home run heroes. Horse racing also had thousands of followers, and trotters were as much esteemed at Petrograd and Moscow as in the Kentucky blue grass. Horse racing already has been revived and is growing more popular every day, particularly as betting machines are now permitted.

Among the peasants themselves, however, sport, except for country wrestling and occasional bucolic running matches, was practically unknown. Peasants comprise at least 70 per cent of the Russian population. The workmen in the cities are interested principally in football.

The government has now organized a special department to encourage sports and is appointing instructors in every province. The school children are being taught physical cultural exercises.

Funds for this purpose are extremely limited, however, and there is a great shortage of footballs and other athletic paraphernalia.

A recent football match near Moscow was attended by a crowd of nearly 7,000 persons, and the Soviet sport officials declare that within a few years Russia will show more interest in sporting events than was the custom before the war.

EXPERTS SAY VOLUNTARY ARBITRATION IS ONLY WAY TO PREVENT STRIKES

With the mind of the nation centered on the problem of strikes, the La Crosse Tribune and Leader-Press secured, through NEA Service, statements from four of the country's leading economic authorities on what they regard as a solution of industrial unrest.

These men, who have made a study of the nation's industrial ills, are unanimous in declaring that arbitration is the means of preventing strikes. They explain in detail how they believe industrial conflicts could be settled satisfactorily and without loss to either worker or employer.

From Board of Review

By WILLARD E. ATKINS, M. A.
University of Chicago.

The outstanding need at the present time is for machinery of conciliation such as was suggested by the Industrial Conference of March, 1920, together with more information as to the facts beneath the controversies.

Because of the absence of machinery engaged in a constant study of industry there are few people competent enough to step in and act wisely in getting the opposing sides together, and because of the absence of authoritative information the public has little opportunity to arrive at a unanimity of opinion or to express itself intelligently for settlement. Nothing short of a comprehensive and continuous fact-finding and fact-reporting agency is sufficient.

At most, it is impossible to look for complete industrial peace. There never has been or never will be such a state of affairs, since capital and labor are both struggling for larger slices of the national income. The strike, therefore, will continue until labor can find some device which it believes will produce better results. Our aim should be to reduce strikes to a minimum and not to forbid them.

There are those who believe in the adoption of the principle of the Kansas Court of Industrial Relations. I am not one of them. Compulsion is a principle of limited usefulness, in any case, and especially compulsion by a court is not a device which tends toward peace with labor. Applied in the industrial states of the north and east, the Kansas principle might lead to increasing conflict, with the authority of the state openly defied by labor.

Favors Arbitration

By DR. W. M. W. SPLAWN
Professor of Economics, University of Texas.

Continuous arbitration seems to me to be the most promising substitute for the strike. It means that, in a given industry, a committee as impartial and as competent as can be had would sit from day to day ready to hear and to decide any differences between employers and employes which they themselves had failed to adjust. It is desirable that the machinery for continuous arbitration shall be set up through the voluntary action of employers and employes and without suggestions or interference by the government, as has been done by agreement between the clothing manufacturers and the amalgamated clothing workers.

In the public utilities, service must be uninterrupted. For this reason it seems that the public is justified in setting up agencies for continuous arbitration where the owners of the utilities properties and their employes fail to do so. The United States Labor Board is such an agency. Kansas is experimenting with a court of industrial relations, which is an agency for continuous arbitration. It may be objected that it would be difficult to enforce the decisions of the arbiters. In the clothing trade the decisions for several years have been enforced through the agreement of both sides to abide by them. This is the arrangement which should be encouraged and developed in most industries. In the public utilities, a wage earner could be given to understand that when he enters the employment of such a company all disputes over wages, hours and working conditions would be referred to a committee and that it would be unlawful to strike against the committee's decisions. An engineer now understands that he may not abandon his engine before the end of the run. For soldiers to strike is mutiny. The strike and the lockout can be outlawed and at the same time all rights of employes and employers can be safeguarded and protected.

Urges Joint Committee

By JOHN R. COMMONS
Professor Economics, University of Wisconsin.

I am opposed to compulsory arbitration, or anything like the Kansas court proposal or the Australian or Canadian proposal.

I think that a standing joint committee with an impartial chairman, paid equally by both sides, would be the best solution for the settlement of strikes. The plan would be on the basis of collective bargaining and the agreement would be made for a year or a longer period of time between employers and employes bargaining collectively, and any disputes that arose within the time of the agreement would be settled by the impartial chairman, whose salary is paid equally by each side. He would interpret the agreement. At the renewal of the agreement under the collective bargaining system a new deal could be made.

Strikes never will be stopped. The compulsory arbitration system has as many strikes and probably more than without it. It runs into politics.

The system of collective bargaining with an impartial arbitrator supported equally by both parties would keep strikes out of politics. I am in favor of legislation along the line of the British Trades Disputes' Act of 1906.

Safeguard Public

By PROF. STUART DAGGETT
Dean, College of Commerce, California University.

The great need today is to create sense of public responsibility in minds of employes of public utilities.

Fifty years ago, the task was to fix responsibility for public interest upon managers of these companies. This was slowly but successfully accomplished. In order to accomplish the same result with employes of public utilities, we must have the same deliberate development of regulation and the same progress in education which was required in case of managers.

There is no short cut and I doubt if any man today can foretell the exact steps which will have to be taken. I am in favor of supporting the Railway Labor Board in every possible way in the present emergency. As a practical expedient because the board is the only body concerned with the strike which expresses public interests. It is more important to support the board than it is to settle the strike, if the two things can be conceived of as antagonistic. The great thing is not to settle any particular controversy but make both parties see in the end that monopolistic power over public necessities cannot be used for personal advantages of either interest concerned. This should be emphatic with full and fair considerations of the rights of the participants in dispute.

LA FOLLETTE FACES SHARP CONTEST IN NOVEMBER ELECTION

Mrs. Hooper, Democratic Candidate, to Conduct Active Campaign for the Senate

INDEPENDENTS MAY BE BROUGHT OUT FOR LEGISLATIVE SEATS

Seek to Prevent Control by the La Follette Faction

MADISON, Wis.—By The Associated Press—The first real battle of the bi-annual political fight finished with the La Follette progressive republicans victors, public attention now is directed to the general elections November 4, and to the meeting of the legislature on January 1, 1923.

Candidates nominated at the republican primaries are not worrying over the outcome of the November election. The overwhelming republican vote, they say, gives them little reason to make a strenuous campaign against the democrats and socialists.

Indications that an independent run for election as governor may be made by Mayor A. C. McHenry of Oshkosh and possibly by Attorney General William J. Morgan, show that Governor Blaine will be called on to carry his fight up to the general election. The active campaign planned by Mrs. Jessie Jack Hooper of Oshkosh, democratic senatorial candidate, will bring a sharp contest with Senator La Follette. Less opposition is expected by the republican candidates for congress, and by the remainder of the state ticket.

There is reported to be a decided likelihood that to prevent control of the legislature by the La Follette progressive wing of the republican party, independent candidates may be brought out in districts where the fight was close, or support be thrown to democratic candidates. The La Follette forces claim control of both the assembly and the senate, giving them full sway in the state government.

Senator La Follette plans to return to Washington after a short rest. He may not return to the state for an active campaign before the November election, unless it is felt by him that a speaking tour is needed to hold together his forces.

Governor Blaine since his victory has been at his residence here resting. Although his campaign has been intensive and made great demands on his strength, the governor says that he is in the best physical condition. He will spend the next month at least, in his office prior to campaigning for election at the November voting.

Other candidates nominated at Tuesday's primary plan on a period of rest before they set out again. The state ticket looks for little opposition from the democrats and socialists. Similarly congressmen do not believe that a strenuous fight will be needed from now on.

WISCONSIN SUPREME COURT TO CONVENE ON SEPTEMBER 12TH

MADISON, Wis.—The Wisconsin supreme court meets Tuesday, September 12, to hear arguments on the first assignment of cases scheduled for the August, 1922, term. Few decisions of importance are expected on that day.

Arguments will be heard of motion for rehearing of the Pullman case, which involves payment of over $100,000 in taxes to the state. The motion for rehearing of the case of the city of Eau Claire against the railroad commission attacking its method of rate making will also be heard.

LA FOLLETTE AND BLAINE RESTING AFTER CAMPAIGN

MADISON, Wis.—Senator Robert M. La Follette, victorious in the primaries by an overwhelming majority, is now resting at his Maple Bluff farm just outside this city. He will not return to Washington for several days, depending entirely upon developments in congress.

Governor Blaine has gone to Oconomowoc where he also seeks the quiet of farm life to rest after a strenuous primary campaign filled with speaking dates. The governor will return to the executive office in a few days.

"LAST OF TRAPPERS" TURNS COYOTES INTO A FORTUNE

ARTHUR OLIVER IN HIS "STORE."

BY GENE COHN

SAN FRANCISCO—The "coyote man," they call him, and for him the old trapper days have never passed.

He has made time and conditions stand still, refusing to bow to modern trade methods; getting his pelts and bartering them as in the days of the old west.

Yet Arthur Oliver makes a financial success of it.

Each summer finds Oliver setting up as strange a store as may be found in this nation. It is a sidewalk rack on which he hangs his winter's catch of furs and sells to passers-by as the old Hudson Bay trappers traded.

He ignores the great fur stores and buyers. Dozens of people await his "opening," which has no fixed time and is dependent on when he has "caught his stock."

Besides, Oliver is retained by the zoology department of the University of California to trap rare and almost extinct animals; he is licensed by the government to trap otter; he conducts rabbit drives for farmers and does all sorts of "odd animal jobs," such as killing mountain lions and coyotes for cattle men.

"It's been a pretty profitable business," he admits. "But I've never figured the profit end very closely. I like to think that someone is carrying on a bit of the old trapper tradition, I guess."

Oliver has won the reputation of being the west's greatest hunter and trapper of wild game.

NEW LISBON PHONE COMPANY ASKS FOR BOOST IN RATES

MADISON, Wis.—Havoc raised by the sleet storms last spring was the cause on Friday for a request from the New Lisbon Telephone company for a slight increase in telephone rates. The present rates would be increased about ten per cent under the request.

A petition to raise gas rates in the city of Marshfield was also filed with the commission. The proposal calls for a minimum rate of $1.00 instead of 75 cents and an increase of from $1.75 to $2.25 per 1,000 feet. No date has been set for hearing.

OIL LIGHT BEATS ELECTRIC OR GAS

BURNS 94 PER CENT AIR

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent air and 6 per cent common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, C. L. Johnson, 609 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 day's FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

U. S. RATE BODY TO MEET WITH BADGERS TO DISCUSS COAL

MADISON, Wis.—A joint sitting of the interstate commerce commission and the Wisconsin railroad commission will be held in the near future which will undoubtedly arrive at some modifications of the present coal rates on railroads in this state. This became known Friday when Chairman Carl D. Jackson of the state commission announced that this was the result of a conference held Wednesday and Thursday between members of the state commission and representatives of the railroads.

A petition of the Wisconsin Retail Lumbermen's association citing how conflicts between state rates and interstate rates on coal are discriminatory in some 30 instances will be made the basis for the complete case upon which the state and interstate authorities will probably revise rates.

JAPS DENY THEY ARE SEEKING CONTROL OF HAWAIIAN ISLANDS

Formal Denial Made in Statement of Japanese Society in Hawaii

HONOLULU, T. H.—Statements made by proponents of the Hawaiian labor relief bill now before congress, at a hearing in Washington before the senate immigration committee that Japanese are attempting to obtain economic and political control of these islands "are grossly exaggerated if not wholly unfounded," acording to an official statement issued by the Japanese society of Hawaii.

"We are at a loss to understand why the representatives with their earnestness to push through the labor emergency bill imputed upon the Japanese in Hawaii such charges as that they are ambitious to assume the economic monopoly or to gain the political control of the territory," the statement said. "Any one who is familiar with the actual situation will say that these charges are largely fantastic fears without reasonable foundations.

"We also wish to take exception to the statement that the Japanese in Hawaii can not be assimilated. Many facts show how the Japanese in Hawaii are making efforts toward the Americanization of their people with the cooperation of American friends. The Japanese language school bill was recommended by the Japanese themselves and aimed at the co-operation of Japanese citizens with the Americans to educate the American youths of Japanese ancestry in accordance with American ideals.

"Especially are the Americans of Japanese ancestry gradually but solidly bearing the fruits of Americanization. A large number of them are already quite familiar with the American way of living. They really take pride in being loyal citizens of America."

TIME CALLED ON THE MAYOR

Most people who meet Mayor Ora Davis of Terre Haute are impressed by his huskiness. He is proud of his strength, and tells stories galore of the tests to which it was put back in the days when people used stoves instead of furnaces.

Then Davis was a popular man in his home neighborhood. In early spring and late fall he received first invitations to the raising and lowering of stoves, even to the one he attended one morning on a day labeled "April the First." After having been told a neighbor wished him to help take down a stove, Ora Davis rushed there and was beginning to take down the pipe preparatory to removing the stove, when some one happened to remind him of the date.

"But I would have had that stove down in a few minutes if they hadn't called time," he laughs at the end of the story.

REFUSED TO BE SET ASIDE

Owners of bull terriers have countless stories to tell of their favorite breed. One of the best is of the animal which went to a dog show "on his own." He was a wonderful dog and had taken prizes everywhere, but eventually he grew old and his son reigned in his stead.

Evidently, however, he thought this was an oversight on the part of his master which it was his duty to rectify.

Consequently he jumped through a kitchen window, over several walls, made his way through miles of London's thickest traffic, and finally finished up at the horticultural hall, where he took his place on the stand.

HARDING MAY ATTEND LEGION'S ANNUAL MEET IN NEW ORLEANS OTHER NOTABLES TO BE THERE

NEW ORLEANS, La.—By The Associated Press.—"The Crescent City" is preparing to entertain the largest gathering in its history when 150,000 members of the American legion and other visitors come to the legion's national convention here, October 16-20.

With the tentative acceptance of the convention invitation by President Harding and General Pershing, and the definite acceptance of Major General John A. Lejeune, commandant of the United States marine corps, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, the legion meeting will assume national importance. Convention officials also expect to entertain a famous marshal of France and other world war notables. Prominent among the distinguished guests will be twenty-five wearers of the congressional medal of honor, the highest award for bravery made by the United States.

Harding May Attend

President Harding has written convention headquarters that he will come to New Orleans if the pressure of public affairs does not interfere and a similar message has been received from General Pershing, who led the legion men in France, who was a guest at their national gathering in Kansas City last year. The visit of General Lejeune will be of especial interest to legionnaires since the marine corps leader is a native of Louisiana and was one of the most popular commanding generals in the American expeditionary forces. The presence of Mr. Gompers at the convention is expected to develop closer relations between the legion and organized labor. Judge Landis is the father of a former service man and has spoken at Legion gatherings in all parts of the country.

In preparation for the visit of the thousands of former service men, the convention committee has prepared an elaborate program of entertainment. Convention sessions will be held only in the mornings, enabling delegates and visitors to participate in the festivities the remainder of the day.

Plan Olympic Meet

The first American Legion national Olympic meet will be held at the convention. Legion athletes from every state will compete for national championships in track and field events, aquatic sports, amateur boxing and wrestling, golf and tennis. There also will be a national marksmanship contest and a tournament of professional boxers. A decision bout between Bob Martin, who won the heavyweight championship at the tournament staged by A. E. F. fighters after the armistice, and Captain Roper, heavyweight champion of the service men who remained in America, will be one of the leading features of the boxing card. The legion bantamweight championship will be settled when Johnny Buff and Pal Moore meet in the convention ring.

Ranking with the athletic meet will be a novel show in the port of New Orleans and on Lake Ponchartrain. Dreadnaughts, cruisers, submarines and sub-chasers from all the great naval powers are to be on exhibition. Legion national officers are now making arrangements for ships to come from England, France, Italy and a number of South American countries. In addition there will be a flotilla of yachts and small pleasure crafts on Lake Ponchartrain.

The United States navy will send a number of seaplanes from Pensacola, Fla. On one of the convention nights these planes will fly over the business district dropping flares and lights in imitation of the bombing raids made by the Germans over the American trenches and billets.

Revive Old Memories

Memories of days in France will be revived by a number of New Orleans societies, which will combine in the presentation of a French carnival night. Stores will be labeled with French signs and the picturesque garb of Brittany, Normandy and other French provinces will be mingled with the khaki, blue and green of the veterans. Downtown streets will be illuminated by 28,000 electric bulbs and will be decorated with flags of allied powers, state seals and legion banners and emblems. Doughboys in search of former comrades will meet in impromptu reunions under divisional insignia flags to be hung over the streets.

Fifty thousand marchers and one hundred bands are expected to participate in the convention parade. The Legionnaires will march by states in the order of membership increase during the last year. To stimulate the attendance of bands from all states $1,750 in prizes will be awarded to the finest legion bands in the parade and $350 will go to the best drum corps.

Colonel Guy Malony, superintendent of police of New Orleans, has announced that 1,000 uniformed Legionnaires will assist his police force in regulating the large crowd thronging the convention parade streets and that the Legionnaires will serve as provost guards in the business district.

Special Fare Granted

The grant of a rate of one fare for the round trip to the convention by all railroads will augment the convention crowds, according to local Legion officials.

Housing arrangements are being undertaken with a view of accommodating 150,000 visitors. A special rate of $1.50 a day without bath and $2.50 a day with bath, has been granted by the leading hotels. Pullman cities, equipped with the conveniences of a modern hotel, will be established by three large railroads to house approximately 14,000 Legionnaires. The housing committee also is considering the creation of a tent city and the placing of cots in halls and business properties. Thousands of visitors will be entertained in New Orleans homes.

"Meet me on the levee," will be the slogan. The convention sessions will be held on the banks of the Mississippi river. A large covered pier—nearly 1,000 feet long and 400 feet wide—astride the levee and parallel to the "father of waters," will be the scene of the national convention deliberations.

Amplifiers will be installed to insure good accoustics. The Legion committee will spend $10,000 in preparing the pier and decorating it for the convention's use.

Wasted Effort

An Omaha woman sat up for her husband until 1 o'clock in the morning, intending to discuss with him the sinfulness of his ways. Finally she gave it up and went upstairs only to find him in bed fast asleep there for many hours. He hadn't been out at all.

SERIOUS FOREST FIRES FEARED IN NORTHERN WOODS

Authorities Warned to be on the Alert to Keep Fires from Spreading

MADISON, Wis. —By the Associated Press.— Forest fires are burning in northern Wisconsin that may become serious as a result of the present dry spell unless every precaution is taken by settlers and by tourists, the conservation commission announced Friday.

Word was sent to all town chairmen, fire wardens, road superintendents and conservation wardens by C. L. Harrington, state conservation commissioner, calling upon them to use their authority to prevent fires and to put out fires that get started. Hot, dry weather through the north has already brought marsh fires that are considered dangerous.

"The season so far has been a favorable one for fires and the state has as yet had little trouble," Mr. Harrington said in his letter. "Indications point, however, to a hot, dry fall and all in authority must be on the alert during this month and through October until the snow flies to prevent fires from starting.

"The law places responsibility on the town chairmen to act as town fire wardens and road superintendents to act as assistants. Conservation wardens are constituted fire wardens and will stand by to represent the state in emergency.

"There is at least one conservation warden in each of the 30 northern counties where the risk from fires is most pronounced and the town chairmen should keep this in mind.

"Town chairmen must take action where these fires are burning, by ordering out men to fight them. The law provides for payment of these fire fighters. Failure to perform their duty in this respect subjects town chairmen to prosecution. It is our desire to prevent destruction of property and to protect the trees and game and the natural beauty of the state."

NATIONAL CAMPAIGN AGAINST DISLOYALTY STARTED BY WOMEN

League of American Pen Women Sends Out Call to Entire Membership to Participate

CHICAGO, Ill.—A nation-wide campaign against disloyalty to the country of whatever nature in the spoken or printed work has been inaugurated by the League of American Pen Women, which has sent out a call to its entire membership to join in the campaign.

This action was taken by the national officers in Washington after information was received from government officials that those who attempt to destroy American institutions and principle direct their efforts primarily to the women of the country and the students in colleges.

This feature is being given particular attention by a special committee appointed by Mrs. Louis N. Geldert, national president, and the national executive board. The textbooks in schools and colleges are being given close scrutiny by this committee. Many textbooks, it is stated, through deletions, fail to instruct properly in American history, American traditions and American ideals.

"Opera companies, whose activities are for education as well as entertainment, who banish our language, our composers and our American-trained singers, tend toward disloyalty in our estimation," declared Eleanor Everett Freer, national chairman of music. "To stifle the progress of so large an asset as our musical art by such a system also seems disloyal to us."

The League of American Pen Women is composed of the professional writing women of the country, authors, editors, publishers, journalists, special feature and syndicate writers, dramatic writers, scenario writers, publicity and advertising experts and lecturers. It holds, because of the nature of its membership, a tremendous national power, Mrs. Geldert states.

The eighteen branches of the organization throughout the country and the 1,500 members of the national body have been called upon to join actively in the campaign.

"FOOLS FIRST" — RIVOLI

The turning point in Tommy Frazier's life came when a little lost girl ran to him for protection. As he lifted her up he gulped and felt a strange sensation in the region of his heart. It was the first time in his life that he had held a child in his arms, and her trust in him filled him with wonderment.

For Tommy was a crook—member of the most notorious gang in police annals. At that moment he was planning to steal $300,000 from a bank, and, although he did not know it at the time, the little girl was one of the instruments of fate which kept him from carrying out the crime.

This is one of the appealing episodes in "Fools First," which opened Thursday at the Rivoli Theater.

STRAND TODAY

The pen of Alexandre Dumas has again supplied a screen producer with a marvelous scenario. From Dumas' widely read story, "The Count of Monte Cristo," William Fox has produced a screen drama worthy of the once popular stage play. In addition to being colorful and romantic the screen version has the advantage of a splendid group of capable players to enact the difficult character roles. John Gilbert, in the role of the famous fiction character. The cast includes such familiar names as Robert McKim, William Mong, Spottiswoode Aitken; George Seigmann, Estelle Taylor, Virginia Faire, Maude George, and a group of others almost as well known.

DOROTHY PHILLIPS— MAJESTIC

Every human emotion is pictured by Dorothy Phillips in "Hurricane's Gal," which is the attraction at the Majestic Theater this week. Miss Phillips is first shown as an untamed girl of the sea, who roams about with a rag doll, a monkey and a goat as her principal companions and ruling her ship with a ferocity that softened by good humor. Later we see her as a regenerated being, established in her mansion in San Francisco. Robert Ellis, former director of motion pictures appears as Miss Phillips' leading man. In the cast are also Wallace Beery, Gertrude Astor, James O. Barrows, William Fong, Jack Donovan and Frances Raymond.

CASINO TODAY

"You can't wreck this ship when my pup can't swim!" So said Pete, the big Swede seaman on board the "Thomas Doane" when he overheard the plans of the rest of the crew to run the ship on the rocks in order to collect the insurance money for the owners. That was the signal for a fight, on the outcome of which hung the fate of the sturdy little schooner. This is but one of the many thrilling spectacular scenes included in "Partners of the Tide," scheduled to appear as the feature attraction at the Casino today. Shipwrecks, daring rescues a fight between divers inside a ship on the bottom of the sea and tender tale of love, have all been combined into a picture that has real heart interest.

RIVIERA MONDAY AND TUESDAY

Three richly embroidered costumes weighing 105 pounds provide much interest of the attendant upon Valentino's colorful and varied Spanish wardrobe in his new Paramount picture, "Blood and Sand" by Vicente Blasco Ibanez which comes to the Riviera theater, next Monday. Thirty five pounds each, weigh the gorgeous silver, gold and satin toreador costumes worn by the star in his appearances as "Juan Gallardo," a bullfighter of Spain.

The Valentino genius for romantic love-making has adequate opportunity with the two widely differentiated feminine leads, played by Lila Lee, sweet and gentle, and Nita Naldi, volcanic and tempestuous.

NO DANGER

The horse looked more like a living skelton than a thing of flesh and blood, and it had scarcely enough strength to pull the light, ramshackle cart which trundled behind it. When the animal began to trot very slowly after a good deal of practical persuasion on the part of the driver, a young hopeful standing in the road could not let the opportunity pass of planting himself directly in front of the oncoming steed.

The driver shouted, but the boy refused to move.

"Why can't you get out of the road?" cried the driver. "Do you want to get run over?"

Without moving, the lad glanced contemptuously at the horse, and shouted, with withering scorn:

"That bony thing run over me? It couldn't! It might tumbel over me."

DOGS FORETELL THE WEATHER

Prairie dogs seem to have some kind of knowledge of the weather, if observers at the New York zoological park are right. Now and then the large members of the colony loosen the earth round their mounds with their forefeet, then shovel the soil upward with their hind feet. Other members work inside the burrow, throwing out earth to aid in the building. When a dyke has been built, the animals stamp the earth down with their heads—an amusing sight. As those operations invariably take place before a storm, the obvious purpose is to build a dam that will keep the water from running into the burrow.

PSYCHIST AWAITS TEST MESSAGE OF HIS DEAD SPOUSE

Hopes for Secret Sentence Agreed Upon in Death Chamber of Wife

PORTLAND, Ore.—From all parts of the country letters are pouring in to Dr. J. Albert Gilbert, physician and student of psychic phenomena, each one declaring it carries a message from his dead wife.

But Gilbert still retains the $500 which he posted in a Portland bank. He declares none of the writers has been able to convey him the tidings he seeks from the Great Unknown.

"I believe the letters were written in full sincerity," declares Dr. Gilbert. "But such a state of affairs can mean only one thing. Each is getting something from himself or herself. They simply do not understand the nature of the phenomena they are getting."

In 1917, with her death growing near, Dr. Gilbert and his wife arranged a countersign, to be transmitted by her from beyond the grave. For four years he waited, but with no manifestation.

Then came Sir A. Conan Doyle with his belief in spiritualism. Determined to give all the opportunity possible for indirect communication of the long looked for countersign, Dr. Gilbert posted $500, and issued a plea and a challenge to Doyle and spiritualistic mediums. The response was a heavy receip of letters ranging from "I love you" to the somewhat cryptic "morphine A. Z. T. G."—but not one, according to Dr. Gilbert, in any way transmitted the countersign—not one is that for which he has been waiting.

Dr. Gilbert is an investigator of psychic phenomena. He expects his experiment, if successful, will do much toward solving the mystery which has surrounded the dead. He intends to use the material for a scientific report, which he believes would open new fields of investigation. At this time he will reveal the countersign which was agreed upon between himself and his wife.

The offer still stands good. It will stand, Gilbert declares, until those interested in spiritualism have exhausted every opportunity to bring him the countersign he seeks.

Language

Quickest way to make an all-round American out of a new arrival is to teach him to talk our language. In this field, naturalized aliens can perform a powerful service for the country they have adopted—or, which has adopted them, if you want to split hairs. Government announces that the last census showed 1,488,948 in our country ten years or older, unable to speak English. The other 89 per cent of our foreign-born population speak English—often better than the nativeborn.

SORRY YOU MAILED THAT LETTER? YOU CAN GET IT BACK

WASHINGTON, D. C.—If you mail a letter and then wish you had not, you can get it back.

To those who have spent sleepless nights worrying about the letter mailed and regretted, the postoffice department furnishes a formula of procedure if it ever happens again.

Don't worry in the future, says Postmaster General Work, who took occasion Thursday to inform the public of regulations to cover such occasions.

"All you have to do," says a postoffice department statement, "is to go to your local postmaster and explain to him that you want to withdraw your letter from the mails. The postmaster must comply with your request, provided you can furnish proofs that you are the sender of the missive. These proofs consist of giving an accurate description of the letter you wish to get back, as well as presenting a sample of your handwriting.

"The rules also permit postmasters to telegraph to the railway mail clerk and get him to take a recalled letter out of a mail pouch after it has left the city. This measure is taken, however, only in extreme emergencies.

CHILDREN'S QUARREL RESULTS IN DEATH OF THREE PERSONS

YORK, S. C.—A children's quarrel Wednesday night between members of the families of J. N. Taylor and William C. Faris resulted Thursday in the death of three members of the Taylor family, while three others were in a hospital, one of whom was expected to die. Faris was in the state penitentiary at Columbia where he had been rushed for safe-keeping.

Faris is alleged to have fired several loads of buckshot into the Taylor family group as they sat on their front porch.

FOUR MORE HELD ON MURDER CHARGES IN HERRIN MINE PROBE

Thirty-eight Indictments Issued by Grand Jury Investigating the Massacre

MARION, Ill.—By The Associated Press.—With four additional men in jail here Friday charged with murder in thirty-eight new indictments issued by the grand jury in connection with the investigation of the Herrin mine war, Sheriff Thaxton and his special deputies were out searching for the rest of those indicted Thursday in the four true bills returned from the grand jury's partial report.

With Otis Clark, of Goreville, the first man indicted and arrested in connection with this investigation, the number of prisoners held in jail here on charges connected with the Herrin massacre stood at five. The four new prisoners are: Leva Mann, miner of Herrin; Charles Rogers, miner of Herrin; Philip Fontanetta, miner, of Marion, and James Brown, a negro deputy sheriff of Colp, a small mining settlement northwest of Herrin.

Less than fifteen minutes after the indictments had been read in open court, Sheriff Thaxton was returning to the county jail with the first prisoner, Fontanetta, the other three were brought in by the deputies late in the evening.

RIVIERA THEATER PRESENTS 5 ACTS OF SHUBERT VODVIL

Starting this week, today and Saturday, the Riviera, North La Crosse, will present 5 big headliner acts of Shubert vodvil in addition to their regular picture program. No time or expense has been spared to make the opening bill the best ever presented here.

Durno, is a novelty Unicyclist and presents some clever unsupported pole balancing. Athlone, is the little lady who found and conquered jazz. She will appear in comedy and character singing. The Three Kenna Girls present a youthful melodious song and dance diversion. Good dancing, very beautiful scenery and gorgeous gowns make this an act that will long be remembered. John Hayden will entertain with the latest songs and clever comedy talk. The big headliner act, "The Elliott Johnson Revue" is a revue of class and talent. A special drop of exquisite futuristic design forms a background for the rendition of a program of restricted songs, splendidly executed dances and an excellent impersonation by one of the ladies. Extravagant costumes, brilliant action and plenty of pep makes this offering a regular "sit up and take notice" production.

The feature picture which is the latest first run Paramount production is "Nice People" featuring Wallace Reid and Bebe Daniels. This is an entertainment in itself and this pleasing combination will make the best entertainment offered in this city.

PROHIBITION DEAD ISSUE IN GOPHER STATE ELECTIONS

Absence of Wet Candidates in Minnesota Causes Abandonment of Wet and Dry Fight

ST. PAUL, Minn.—The wet and dry issue has been dropped in the congressional contests thus far in Minnesota, for the November election, because of an absence of wet candidates.

All incumbents, including Andrew J. Volstead, have been renominated on the republican ticket and all are avowedly dry. In no case where a close race is expected between republican and democratic nominees was the issue raised.

The republican nominees are: First district, Sydney Anderson; second district, Frank Clague; third district, Charles R. Davis; fourth district, Oscar E. Keller; fifth district, Andrew J. Volstead; eighth district, Oscar J. Larson; Ninth district, Halbor Steenerson; tenth district, Thomas H. Schall.

The sharpest conflict is expected in the seventh district, where the Rev. O. J. Kvale, democrat of Benson, probably will oppose Congressman Volstead. Both are dry. In the third district, Mrs. Lillian Cox Gault is a democratic candidate to oppose Charles R. Davis, republican nominee. Mrs. Gault also is dry.

There are democratic candidates in only three other districts and they have not announced a position on the wet and dry issue.

FORMER PRESIDENT JOHNSON'S TAILOR SHOP IN TENNESSEE TO BE PRESERVED BY THE STATE

GREENVILLE, Tenn.—By the Associated Press.—The state of Tennessee and the city of Greenville have taken steps to preserve for future generations the little building occupied by Andrew Johnson as a tailor shop, the place where he dreamed of one day occupying the highest position in the power of Americans to bestow upon one of their fellow citizens, the presidency.

The state legislature at its last session appropriated $15,000 to put a brick shell structure around the house, located in the center of this thriving little city built among the rolling hills of east Tennessee. An additional sum of $200 annually was provided for the upkeep of the building. A small home for the caretaker is included in the plans. Both structures are well under way.

Persons who visit the place will not be allowed to touch the tailor shop where "A. Johnson tailored old clothes and new," for it will be partly encased in glass. Through the glass, however, the thousands of tourists who journey to Greenville every year may view the house and parts of its interior. They may see the work bench behind which the youthful workman plied his trade as he bemoaned the fate that deprived him of an education earlier in life, where he was inspired to achievement; where the dreams of an active career in public life took shape and spurred him on to enter politics at the age of twenty, a decision he evidently never regretted, according to his last statement, the original of which, along with other relics, will be part of the treasure that will be housed in the new building.

A touch of pathos and religion runs through the last recorded words of the only president to be impeached, the only tailor to become president, and the only president to be elected to the United States senate after serving as the nation's chief executive, a statement written as he saw the shadow of the Valley of Death gradually lengthening out to envelop him.

Hanging in a frame in his old home place here, it reads:

"All seems gloom and despair. I have performed my duty to my God, my country and my family. I have nothing to fear. Approaching it I almost feel sacred. Here I know no evil can come; there I will rest in quiet and peace, beyond the reach of calumny's poisoned shaft, the influence of envy and jealous enemies, where treason and traitors in state, back-sliders and hypocrites in church can have no place, where the great fact will be realized that God is truth and gratitude is the highest tribute of man."

Radio Warns of Thunderstorms

Detection of approaching thunderstorms in time to make necessary adjustments in operation of electric service is a valuable practical use of the radio, according to the report of the electrical apparatus committee of the National Electric Light association presented at the convention in Atlantic City. The radio also serves to detect defects in electrical apparatus and equipment more efficiently than any other agency, the report says.

Chinese Poetry vs. Freud

Chinese literature could exercise a beneficent influence on our own. It proves for example—and this contrary to the doctrine of our romantic Freudians—that a great poetry can exist by other virtue than its sexual interest. It offers a resolution of our too-favorite antinome between romanticism and classicism, for it is a literature both human and humanistic; a literature that is classical without being mummified. American poetry could learn this from the Chinese.—Malcolm Cowley in the Dial.

BLAINE ANNOUNCES PARDON HEARINGS ON NEXT TUESDAY

Fifty Applications, Many from Service Men, to be Heard by Governor

MADISON, Wis.—Gov. J. J. Blaine will hold his first pardon hearings since July, on Tuesday, September 12. At that time nearly 50 applications for executive clemency, including those from a number of exservice men will be placed before the governor.

During the past three months Governor Blaine has been occupied with his campaign for renomination and has postponed the regular monthly pardon hearings. Applications have accumulated within that period.

The governor's Fourth of July announcement in which he said that he would receive with favor, applications for clemency from former soldiers who could show that their condition was directly or indirectly caused by war service, has brought a response from several inmates of Wisconsin penal institutions.

Bath in West Africa

The Bantu of West Africa makes elaborate preparations for a real soak by digging a hole in the ground, in which he puts seven herbs a quantity of peppers, cardamom seeds and husks, then he pours in a lot of boiling hot water. After he gets in, a light frame covered with clay is put over the hole to keep in the steam. After hours of steaming the bather emerges and is washed off with clean water, then kneaded by a professional for one hour, when he dons his scanty clothing and goes his way "shivering with cleanness."

DRASTIC CHANGES IN ARMY PERSONNEL PLANNED UNDER SCHEME OF REORGANIZATION

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The new reorganization plan for the army, drafted by the general staff in order to meet reductions in personnel in accordance with congressional acts fixing the enlisted strength at 125,000 men calls for sweeping changes in the number and size of tactical units. An explanatory statement issued by the war department shows a large number of such units which will be either further reduced in strength, made inactive, or demobilized.

Only 37 regiments of infantry will remain in the combat service as a result of the reduction, as compared to 64 regiments called for under the national defense act of 1920. The cavalry regiments are reduced from 16 in 1920 to 14; the field artillery regiments from 33 in 1920 to 13; plus 8 separate battalions; coast artillery regiments from 9 to 4, plus those at fixed defenses, and the engineer regiments from 13 in 1920 to 7.

In addition to the reduction in number, the infantry regiments, the statement said, have been reduced in strength from 1490 men to 1150, and the cavalry regiments from 818 to 641.

The twelfth and thirty-fourth infantry regiments were reduced to 812 enlisted men, respectively, while those made inactive, with records assigned to active associates and provisions made for rehabilitation, included the 36th, 37th 39th, 40th, 41st, 47th, 51st, 52nd, 53rd, 54th, 60th and 61st regiments, as well as the 18th light tank battalion, the 20th infantry brigade headquarters and headquarters company, and the 10th tank company. Those demobilized with records turned in to the adjutant general and no provision made for rehabilitation included the 44th, 46th, 48th, 49th, 50th, 55th, 56th, 59th, 62nd, 63rd and 64th regiments.

Nine training center troops of cavalry were demobilized and the 9th cavalry regiment was ordered returned to the United States for station at Fort Riley, Kan.

Other organizations made inactive, demobilized, or converted into smaller units included several in the field artillery service, the coast artillery, air service, engineers, signal corps, quartermaster corps, ordnance department and chemical warfare service.

"In the redistribution of the army within the United States," the statement said, "use is being made of permanent posts as far as possible, and the policy of withdrawing from cantonments is being continued."

Of the camps, distinguished from cantonments, used for mobilization during the war, the statement pointed out, all have been disposed of except Camp McClelland, Alabama, which was retained for training purposes in the Fourth Corps area.

Of the 16 national army cantonments, Camps Devens, Mass., Dix, N. J., Custer, Mich., and Funston, Kan., are retained for training purposes in their respective corps areas. Camp Travis, Texas, was retained as the second division station and the principal training area for the eighth corps.

Camp Lewis, Washington, was retained as the principal area for the 9th corps, and permanent station for the third division, while Camp Mead, Maryland, was kept for training purposes of the third corps area.

"The reduction of officers," the statement added, "as provided in the last appropriation act has begun, but will not be completed until December 15. A board of general officers is now meeting daily at the war department."

A tabulation of commissioned personnel to be reduced by grades, showed 569 colonels to be reduced to 420; 667 lieutenant colonels to 577; 2,191 majors to 1,575; 4,385 captains to 3,150; 3,026 first lieutenants to 2,967; and second lieutenants to be increased from 130 to 1,771. These reductions will be made from officers on the promotion list, while others on the nonpromotion list will be reduced from 1,126 to 983 in the medical department; from 234 to 158 in the dental corps; from 158 to 126 in the veterinary corps; and 138 to 72 in the motor ambulance corps.

Eight hundred officers on the promotion list, graded from colonel to first lieutenant, will be retained until they are absorbed or recommissioned in their next lower grade. When this is accomplished, the statement concluded, a minimum of 1,716 reductions will be necessary this year by retirement, resignation or discharge.

"This is a minimum reduction of 13.5 per cent. or approximately of one officer out of every seven," the statement said, adding that when the final reduction in commissioned personnel is completed, a reassignment will be made of officers to branch and arm of service and to the various orginizations of the army.

COOPER SHUTS OUT CUBS FOR PIRATES

Buc Hurler Hangs Up His Twentieth Victory of the Season

GIANTS CAPTURE FIRST OF PHILLY SERIES, 13-6

Reds in Third Place; Give Cards Trimming

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—Cooper held Chicago to six hits on Thursday and chalked up his twentieth victory of the season, Pittsburgh winning, 6 to 0. Only one Chicago player reached third base.

Before the game Manager McKechnie was presented with a silver bat and ball, the gift of the Kiwanis club of Toronto, Ohio, where he was manager of a team in 1917 and 1918. Score:

Chicago ....000 000 000—0
Pittsburgh ....300 101 01x—6

Batteries: Stueland, Jones and Wirt; Cooper and Schmidt.

Giants, 13; Phils, 6

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—New York took the first of a three game series from Philadelphia here on Thursday, 13 to 6. Weinert started for the locals but was put out of the game in the opening inning for arguing with Umpire Klem. Irish Meusel and Cliff Lee hit home runs. Score:

New York ....603 200 020—13
Philadelphia ......100 260 030— 6

Batteries: Scott and Snyder; Weinert, Smith, Winters, Pinto and Henline, Peters.

Reds, 10; Cards, 6

CINCINNATI, Ohio. — Cincinnati advanced to third place in the National league race on Thursday by winning from St. Louis, 10 to 6. North was pounded hard in the first and fourth innings, ten men going to bat in the latter round and seven of them scoring. Rixey was effective until his team had secured a big lead when he let down in his work. Score:

St. Louis ....001 002 012— 6
Cincinnati ....300 700 00x—10

Batteries: North, Barfoot and Clemons, Ainsmith; Rixey and Wingo.

JOHNSTON WILL NOT RETIRE FROM TENNIS COMPETITION YET

NEW YORK.—William M. Johnston of San Francisco, twice national lawn tennis singles champion and Davis Cup star, has set at rest reports that this will be his last season of active competition. "There is no reason why I should stop playing so long as I can do it reasonably well and I look forward to several years more of activity," he said.

BASEBALL BRIEFS

CHICAGO, Ill.—Four Philadelphia twirlers failed to check the New York Giants batting onslaught in the first game of the series and although Jack Scott also was hit freely, the champions had little trouble winning 13 to 6 and holding their advantage over the Pirates who blanked Chicago six to nothing. Wilbur Cooper, star Pirate of the southpaw, turned in his twentieth victory of the season.

Cincinnati climbed into third place, ousting the Cubs by pounding out a 10 to 6 victory over St. Louis.

The American league rivals, St. Louis and New York, were idle while the Chicago White Sox nosed out Cleveland, 9 to 8, in ten innings and the Athletics took a double-header from the Boston Red Sox.

Catcher Yaryan, replacing Ray Schalk, who was injured in the tenth, pounded out a homer in his first time at bat to give the White Sox their verdict.

Ralph Pinelli, the peppery third baseman of the Cincinnati Nationals, fattened up his batting average against the Cardinal twirlers by getting four hits in as many times at bat.

MAJOR GRIFFITH WILL BE BIG TEN DICTATOR

WHO HE IS AND THINGS HE HAS DONE ALREADY

John L. Griffith was born at Mt. Carroll, Ill.

He is a graduate of Mt. Carroll high school and of Beloit college.

He coached at Yankton college, 1902-05, was director of athletics and athletic coach at Morningside college, 1905-08, and served as director of athletics and coach at Drake University, 1908-17, besides being dean of men at Drake for four years and, for one year, vice president. He also founded and managed the Drake Relays.

He entered the military service in 1917. Thenceforward, until his discharge, with the rank of major, in 1919, his history was as follows:

Athletic officer for the 88th army division, with supervision over the physical and athletic work of 30,000 men; ordered, in August, 1918, to Camp Gordon, to assist in establishing a physical and bayonet school; placed in command, in September, of the physical and bayonet school at Camp Pike; ordered, in January, 1919, to Washington, and placed in command of the physical and bayonet work of the army in the United States; became, in September, 1919, senior instructor of a special physical and bayonet school established at the infantry school of arms by the general staff.

He was connected with the athletic department of the University of Illinois from October, 1919, until August, 1922.

He is editor and publisher of The Athletic Journal, chairman of the national collegiate track and field rules committee and a member of the N. C. A. A. track and field meet committee.

MAJOR JOHN L. GRIFFITH

By JOHN L. GRIFFITH
(Commissioner of Athletics of the Western Conference.)
(Written Expressly for R. J. Gibbons of the NEA Service.

School and college competitive athletics constitute a utility in our social and economic life.

It is on our American athletic fields that unwritten laws are largely developed.

Athletics are invaluable in creating morale, and in teaching lessons of loyalty and patriotism. In short, our athletics are too valuable to be dispensed with, and too important ever to be placed on the defensive.

Believes in Sport

I believe in our American games and sports and am glad to have the opportunity of working with the directors of the western conference in carrying out a constructive program designed to safeguard athletics.

The ten directors are practical men. They have no wild theories concerning athletics. They are not dreamers, and above all, each one is honestly striving to improve athletics, not in the other director's university, but in his own. These directors have established certain rules under which athletics in the conference are to be conducted.

These rules are sensible and necessary for the development of athletics along the right lines. The majority of people, when they understand them, believe in these rules.

Highest Plane Sought

One of the most important rules is the one regarding amateurism. Every one who understands the purpose of college athletics believes in the amateur principle to the extent of agreeing that it would not make for the best in college athletics if the colleges were to conduct their contests strictly on a professional basis.

Some would draw the line " one place and some another. The directors, after years of study, have suggested where the line shall be drawn. These men know what is good for our college athletics and the support of the public is solicited in the endeavors which are being made to place amateur athletics on a higher plane.

Athletics on the whole in the western conference are as free from evil as are the athletics of any other sectional group of colleges.

Always a Leader

In fact, this conference has always been a leader in initiating changes which were for the betterment of athletics.

In accepting the office of commissioner of athletics of the western conference, I realize that our games will be just as clean as the men who play them and that the standards of sportsmanship in the colleges will largely be established by the men who coach the teams. It will be my privilege and duty to labor to make our athletics increasingly helpful and beneficial to the nation.

WORK LAID OUT FOR HIM TO DO IN LATEST JOB

By ROY GIBBONS

Judge Landis, dictator of baseballdom!

Will Hays, ruler of the movie realm!

Now make room in your list for John L. Griffith, who's just been named supreme commissioner of western conference athletics.

He has jurisdiction over western college sports, from football on down. His subjects include 2000 'varsity men on Big Ten squads, and they'll have to be mighty good, or papa'll spank.

Griffith received his appointment from the sport directors of the Big Ten. He'll have offices in Chicago, and his term will be two years.

MACKS SLAM RED SOX TWICE IN SAME PLACE

Tillie Walker Gets Thirty-fourth Home Run

CHICAGO— Yaryan, forced into the game in the tenth inning after Schalk's finger was split by a foul tip, cracked out a home run which gave Chicago a 9 to 8 victory over Cleveland here on Thursday. Yaryan was the first man up in the tenth inning and he smashed the ball into the left field bleachers.

The locals had taken a big lead by driving Morton off the mound and were helpless against the left hand offerings of Winn until Yaryan's drive ended the game.

The visitors played an uphill battle, finally getting three men on in the ninth and forcing Faber to retire. McInnis' long fly followed and the tying run came home. Schalk will be out of the game for several days. Score:

Cleveland ....301 101 011 0—8
Chicago ....205 000 000 1—9

Morton, Winn and O'Neill; Faber Blankenship and Schalk, Yaryan.

Macks 7, 3; Red Sox, 4, 0.

BOSTON.—Philadelphia took both games from Boston on Thursday, 7 to 4 and 3 to 0. The visitors bombarded Ferguson and Karr in the first inning of the first game and made four runs. Walker's thirty-fourth homer of the season was made over the left field fence in the fifth inning of the second game, with Galloway on base. Rommel was hit safely but four times in this game. Galloway's fielding was brilliant. Scores:

First Game—
Philadelphia ....400 100 011—7
Boston ....000 040 000—4

Naylor and Perkins; Ferguson, Karr and Ruel.

Second Game—
Philadelphia ....000 020 001—3
Boston ....000 000 000—0

Rommell and Perkins; Piercy and Chaplin.

DOPE SAYS RICHARDS WILL HAVE DIFFICULT TASK TO DEVELOP BIG TEN CHAMPION

Badger Football Squad Suffers Two Handicaps at This Stage; Holmes, Halfback, is Declared Ineligible; Brumm Injured

BY BOB DUNN

For the past several years, the advance dope on Big Ten grid sports has given Coach John R. Richards of Wisconsin a good bet at the conference championship. Each years the elevens he has developed have either fallen down in the emergency or been followed by the jinx. In any event, Wisconsin has not led the conference title during any of these recent years.

This year the general dope says that Big Jawn will have a hard task on his hands to develop a team that will do justice to Wisconsin's gridiron records. In view of this state of affairs, many are looking for the big Badger coach to accomplish the unusual and put out a team that will surprise conference dopesters.

Two Handicaps

As far as material is concerned, the Wisconsin squad has suffered two handicaps at this early date. One of the first occurred when Holmes, halfback, was declared ineligible. The other happened a short time ago when Kibo Brumm, tackle, fell from a silo, following which his doctors ruled that he should never again don a gridiron uniform.

Fans are awaiting a third development on the campus which may throw another wrench into fall plans.

"Shorty" Barr, doty quarterback, has been laboring during the summer sessions to make some marks in the law school which would render him eligible. No word has come from the law pros as yet, however, as to whether or not he will be allowed to play. Barr has many good attributes. Chief among them is the fact that he is one of the best forward passers in the conference and a first class drop-kicker. As such he would prove a good asset to a team which may be compelled to play a strong open field game.

Wisconsin's one man who can be depended upon to perform this year is Captain Rollie Williams, chief among conference halfbacks. Most of Wisconsin offense this year will undoubtedly be built about him now that Holmes has been ruled out of the game.

Look to Frosh

Coach Richards will have to look to last year's freshman squad, to the all-Americans of last fall and to a few players uncovered this spring for most of his additional material.

And it is conceded that the yearling eleven of last season was below normal in caliber. Among the most likely looking of the frosh team, however, are Murray and Ellingson, linemen, and Pulaski and Harris of the backfield candidates.

Among the members of the all-Americans who scrimmaged the varsity are Below, tackle; Bieberstein, guard; Paige, center, and Saari, Stoll and Slaughter, backs.

Number Show Promise

Athletes who showed signs of promise in the spring practice were Fladoes, Jones and Willey, ends; Eagleburger, back, and Nelson and Strain, linemen.

Coach Richards sailed from Rotterdam on August 25 and is expected to be in Madison by September 10 to start lining up his fall program of practice which starts on September 15 in all the Big Ten institutions.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—Lew Tendler, Philadelphia lightweight, and Pal Moran of New Orleans were matched for fifteen rounds at New York September 18.

COACH YOST BEGINS TRAINING ANN ARBOR SQUAD FOR HARDEST OF SCHEDULES ON SEPTEMBER 15

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Michigan's complete schedule follows:

Oct. 7—Case at Ann Arbor.
Oct. 14—Vanderbilt University at Nashville.
Oct. 21—Ohio State at Columbus.
Oct. 28—Illinois at Ann Arbor.
Nov. 4—Michigan Aggies at Ann Arbor.
Nov. 18—Wisconsin at Ann Arbor.
Nov. 25—Minnesota at Minneapolis.

Facing the problem of developing practically a new line, and with one of the hardest schedules in his career ahead of him, Coach Yost of the University of Michigan football team will begin active training of his charges September 15, the date that 47 men have been invited to return for the practice season.

The Wolverines this year will have but three weeks to prepare for their first game. This comes October 7, when Case, for many years called upon to provide the first opposition to the Maize and Blue, takes the field at Ann Arbor.

The week following the Case game, the Yostmen will meet Vanderbilt University at Nashville for the first time in years.

Michigan's real test of strength will come October 21 when Ohio State will be called upon to meet the Wolverine attack at Columbus. The game will be the first in Ohio's new $1,400,000 stadium, and according to critics here, will rank as one of the most important clashes in the west this year.

TENNIS MATCHES ON

PHILADELPHIA. — The world's best lawn tennis players were gathered at the Germantown Cricket club Friday for the opening of the 41st annual national singles championship tournament. Of the 59 matches on the program Friday, nine were to be played upon the championship courts within the grandstand enclosure, three at noon, three at 2 o'clock and the last trio at 4 o'clock.

SPORT BRIEFS

NEW YORK.—Benny Leonard and Charley White of Chicago were matched for twelve rounds at Jersey City October 6.

TORONTO.—George F. Lyon of Toronto won for the fifth consecutive year the Canadian senior golf association championship.

WATERLOO, Iowa.—Navy Rostan, Joliet, knocked out Jimmy Nuss of De Pere, Wis., in the tenth round before the American Legion state convention crowd.

Grimm of the Pirates, led the attack against the Cubs, with three hits making the only extra basehits of the contest, a triple and double.

MONTAGUES MEET TONNAWANDA CLUB HERE ON SUNDAY

St. Paul Club Won Western Amateur Baseball Association Title in 1921

The Tonnawandas of St. Paul is the aggregation which comes for the Sunday attraction with the Montague club at Copeland park. The club won the western amateur baseball association championship of St. Paul during the season of 1921, losing only the first game of a schedule of nineteen.

This year the club has lost but two games out of fifteen played. Losing two games left the club in second position in the league, since the winner lost only one game during the entire season.

A number of the players contemplate driving to the city on Saturday before the game. They expect to arrive in the city in the evening Saturday.

The New York Giants went on a batting rampage at the cost of Philadelphia pitchers, everybody getting one or more hits except Bancroft.

Same with suits—if you will consult the description of the cheapest suits you'll find that they claim as much as we do for our quality garments.

But here you'll soon see the difference—not only in cloth but in style—pattern and tailoring—and you'll come to wonder why on earth some people make claims in a newspaper when the clothes are a dead give away.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK—Continued improvement in industrial and railroad strike situations was reflected in the strong tone of prices at the opening of Friday's stock market. New high records for the year were established in the first few minutes of trading by American Woolen, Retail Stores, Pullman, Norfolk and Western, Dupont and Union Bag and Paper, the gains ranging from one to three points. Equipment stocks were in fairly good demand, advances of approximately a point being recorded by Baldwin and Lima Locomotives. Mexican Oils recovered from their recent heaviness, Mexican Petroleum mounting a point in the first few sales. Advances in rails were largely fractional, the leaders being Atlantic Coast Line, Rock Island and New York Central. Substantial improvement was noted in International Paper, General Asphalt, American Metals and Consolidated Gas.

Stocks were bid up in spirited fashion during the morning, the rise extending over a broad list which presaged total sales of well over a million shares. Relatively easy money rates and indications of improved business conditions as reflected in the smallest number of weekly commercial failures to date also contributed to the more cheerful sentiment. Oils, equipment and motor accessories were particularly prominent, gains of from two to nearly four points being registered by Standard of New Jersey, Baldwin, Railway Steel Spring, Fisher Body, International Harvester, Central Leather and Lorillard Tobacco. Mexican Petroleum's gain of more than 3½ points accompanied reports that the company was constructing two plants in Mexico for extracting gasoline from natural gas. Call money opened and renewed at 4 per cent.

Indications that the bear position had become untenable provided the stimulus for a further rise in special stocks in the final hour. Shippings and low priced rails which had lagged in early dealings were pushed up with the rest of the list. The closing was strong, sales 1,100,000 shares.

CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Ill.—General commission house buying based on higher quotations at Liverpool, led to a new upturn here in the price of wheat Friday during the early dealings. It was said large orders to purchase Canadian wheat were in the market. Gossip was current that France would require 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 tons of wheat before the harvest of 1922-23 was available. The opening which ranged from ⅜ to ⅝c higher, with December $1.02¾ to $1.03 and May $1.08 to $1.08⅜, was followed by a slight reaction.

Owing to wet weather hedging pressure in the northwest was less in evidence than of late. The government crop report due after the close was expected to show a small increase in the estimated yield of spring grain. The close was unsettled at the same as Thursday's finish to ⅝c higher, with December $1.02½ to ⅝ and May $1.07½ to ⅝.

Profit-taking on the part of the holders checked advance in the values of corn and oats. After opening ⅛c off to ⅛c higher, December 58c, the corn market held near to the initial range.

Reported rains in Iowa and Nebraska tended subsequently to deter buyers. The close was easy at the same as Thursday's finish to ⅜c lower with December 57¾ to ⅞c.

Oats started unchanged to ⅛c higher, December 35¼ to 35⅜c, and later showed but little change.

Provisions were without any notable change, dealers apparently awaiting developments in the corn and hog market.

EFFICIENCY

Lee Junior, age four, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Lee Bassett, of Columbus, Ind., has learned a great deal about efficiency, as his mother has many time and labor saving methods which she puts into practice around the house, and which have made a deep impression on Lee Junior. Frequently at night the youngster looks out at the stars, and recites "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star." One night recently when about to recite his little piece, he paused, hesitated awhile and appeared to be in a deep study. In a moment his face lighted, and he evidently found the efficiency idea he wished to apply in the case, for he began:

"Two twinkles, little star; how I wonder what you are."—Indianapolis News.

THE BOAT OF LIFE

The little boat of our life labors in the trough of the sea, and we cannot see out at all. We are lifted to a wave-crest and look out, momentarily, over the troubled waters, happy if we can see, in the distance, the islands, with their fronded palms and mountains, whose summits lift to the blue dome of the sky. Again the trough of the sea engulfs us, and we cannot see. All I can offer is the vision from a single wave-crest; what the next may show, no one can forsee.—From "For What Do We Live," by Edward Howard Griggs.

EX-PREMIER ARRESTED

An enthusiastic young policeman searching for robbers of American army stocks near Cocherel, France, happened on a shaggy-haired man who was strolling along a country road. Demanding the man's card of identification and finding that he carried none, the policeman arrested him as a vagabond and started him on a three-mile walk to the police station.

"You have done a good job," the prisoner said to his captor. "You'll surely be congratulated."

Arriving at the station the prisoner demanded that he be allowed to telephone.

"To whom?" the policeman asked.

"To the attorney general of France," the prisoner replied calmly.

"This is Aristide Briand, deputy and former premier of France," the vagabond said to the attorney general. "I have just been arrested for vagabondage for walking the roads outside my country estate. It would be extremely kind of you to have me released."

When the man who only last March ceased to be head of the French government was released he took his trembling captor to a cafe and bought him an aperitif, giving him pointers at the same time as to the difference between law-breakers and vagabonds and citizens who merely neglect to carry their papers of identification.

The middle ages were said by some to end with the invention of printing.

JUDGE'S DAUGHTER IS KILLED AS AUTO DROPS INTO RAVINE

Judge Scanlon and Other Members of Family Injured in Accident

CHICAGO.—Marian Scanlan, 28 year old daughter of Judge Kickham Scanlan of the Criminal court, was instantly killed. Judge Scanlan's left arm and his nose were broken, and his wife, another daughter, and his son-in-law were seriously injured Thursday afternoon when their car crashed through a heavy fence and plunged backward down a forty foot ravine into a creek near Fort Sheridan.

Blinded by a driving rain, A. C. Nell, 6110 Lakewood avenue, the son-in-law, who was driving, didn't see the fence at a sharp turn in Sheridan road approaching a bridge until it loomed up suddenly ahead of him.

Turns Upside Down

Frantic efforts to get back into the road were futile. The big sedan skidded and tore backward through the fence, hesitated a moment at the brink, then went plunging down. It hit two trees and turned upside down in a little creek at the bottom.

Despite his injuries, Judge Scanlan pulled himself out of the wreck and found his entire family unconscious and pinned beneath the car.

He fought several minutes in a vain attempt to drag them from under the heavy machine, then ran up on the highway and stopped a car, which hastened to Fort Sheridan and brought a squad of soldiers to effect the rescues.

The year old daughter of the Nells escaped unhurt. When Mrs Nell saw that the crash was inevitable, she bent her head and shoulders to make a shield for the child and when the soldiers arrived they found the unconscious form of the mother still making a cradle of safety for the baby.

All Will Recover

All of the injured will recover, it was said at the Fort Sheridan hospital.

According to the man who summoned help, the Scanlan automobile must have been traveling at thirty-five miles an hour. He declared that the Scanlan car passed him 100 feet away from the bridge, going north at a pace ten miles faster than he was, and he was making twenty-three to twenty-five miles an hour, he said. He is Fred Panquit of Detroit.

Starting on Vacation

The accident came while the Scanlans and the Nells were enjoying the first leg of a vacation trip to the north woods. They started shortly after noon Thursday for a 400-mile drive to the farm of Adam Wolf, far up in Wisconsin, where Judge Scanlan was planning to spend a month's vacation with his family and his daughter's family.

Wrongly Catalogued

The politician rushed past the official Cerberus into the editorial sanctum.

"What do you mean by insulting me as you did in last night's Clamor?"

"Just a minute," replied the editor. "Didn't the story appear as you gave it to us—namely, that you had resigned as city treasurer?"

"It did," admitted the politician. "But you put it under the head, 'Public Improvements.'"—Harper's Magazine.

DAME FASHION TURNS BACK TO OLD FRENCH COURT FOR NEWEST MODES

BY MARIAN HALE

In the celebrated beauties of the old French court could revisit the earth, on which they exerted such a tremendous influence, they would probably feel quite at home.

For their favorite styles, preserved in famous paintings and in old French prints are serving as the inspiration for our most advanced styles.

Fashion designers are studying their little tricks of combining fabrics and laces, jewels and tissues.

Milliners are endeavoring to bring back their quaint millinery.

Hair dressers are trying to revive the elaborate coiffures and have succeeded in bringing back into fashion the old elaborate headdresses and turban effects of silks and jewels.

On the whole we are facing a season of great luxury and splendor.

We have grown tired of black frocks with their limited possibilities and somber effects and are going to burst forth into rain bow colors, and gold and silver fabrics and barbaric displays of jewels, particularly for evening.

The popular materials for gowns are rich velvets, brocades, satin-faced crepes and metal cloths.

Frequently these are quite plain, with only slender shoulder straps of diamonds or pearls, and slipper heels studded with the same jewels.

Possibly the whole interest in the frock is centered in the girdle, of pearls or a rope of them, loosely tied and ending in long tassels of jewels.

Costume jewelry this season is more important than ever before. Sometimes one has a girdle, headband and bracelet of diamonds and sapphires or diamonds and emeralds, all following the same pattern.

Long chains of jewels or carved metal hang nearly to the knees, and necklaces are worn many times about the throat.

Jet is made into most interesting ornaments and sets, to be worn with all-white costumes, giving the black and white combination that is so popular.

White velvet and silver cloth, black velvet and gold are popular combinations at the present time.

Designers say, however, that before we can properly wear these gorgeous costumes we must acquire the dignity and the stately bearing of the old French beauties.

And that, of course, is more difficult than acquiring the clothes.

SEARCH FOR MAN NAMED "MARK" IN SEATTLE SLAYING

SEATTLE, Wash.—A new search for a man known as "Mark" was ordered Friday in the case of Clara S. Witborn, who, officers say, has confessed to shooting the wealthy and aged Ferdinand Hochbrun to death, here last October. The order for the search resulted from discovery of a telegram apparently sent by the woman two days after the date Hochbrun was shot. It was addressed to Raymond E. Herron, a telegraph operator in Kalamazoo, Mich.

District Attorney Douglas, discovered the telegrams in a telegraph office here.

Herron, said District Attorney Douglas, is a widower with a couple of children.

M'ADOO TO RUN FOR PRESIDENT IN 1924 DECLARES FRIEND

NEW YORK.—William G. McAdoo, formerly secretary of the treasury, is an avowed candidate for the democratic nomination for president in 1924, William C. Lyons of Denver, a former Colorado state senator, declared here Thursday.

"I saw McAdoo in Los Angeles less than a month ago," Mr. Lyons says, "and he told me very plainly that he would be in the race this time."

HOT FIGHTS IN PRIMARIES IN VERNON COUNTY

Complete unofficial primary election returns from Vernon county show several close races for county offices. For the state offices and the office of U. S. senator, the La Follette ticket went over by a great majority in most cases.

The fight for member of assembly was especially keen and was not decided until the last precinct was reported. A. E. Smith nosed out C. J. Smith by a scant 16 votes. Minnie Vance was defeated for the nomination to the office of county clerk by 152. The race for sheriff was also close, Alex Skolos winning from Theodore Johnson, his closest competitor, by 59 votes.

Part of the frescoed ceiling in President Harding's room in the capitol fell down the other day. The worst of it is he can't break his lease.—Life.

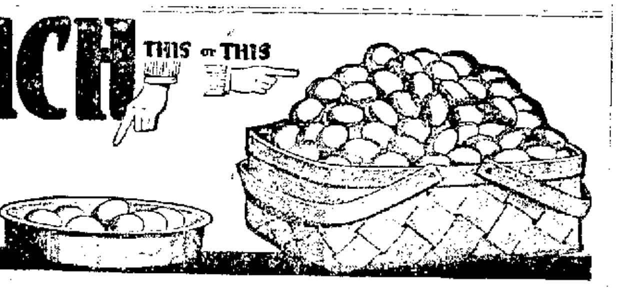
WHICH THIS or THIS Do You WANT



Get More Eggs this Fall and Winter!

The one great mistake most poultry raisers make is in the idea that scratch feeds make eggs, and this accounts for their failure to get eggs in the winter and fall.

Scratch feeds do not make hens lay. Just so long as you make scratch feed the bulk of your hen's ration, you will fail to get eggs. Scratch feed is for the hen's bodily maintenance—to make her exercise, scratch—to satisfy her while on the roost, and not to make eggs.

The feed that will make hens lay abundantly must be a soft feed, finely ground and correctly balanced—a feed composed of materials like hens pick up in the Spring, when their egg production is highest.

SCHOOL AUTHORITIES ARE URGED TO GUARD AGAINST EPIDEMICS

Instructions Sent to all Superintendents by State Board of Health

MADISON, Wis.—The state board of health is Friday notifying all school superintendents of the action necessary to avoid school epidemics on communicable diseases.

The following instructions are being sent all over the state in preparation for the opening of school next week:

"The schools will soon be open. Teachers, parents and children should know that wherever many children gather the danger is greatest from measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough and diphtheria. At this season it is very important for mothers and fathers to work with the local health officer and family physician in trying to discover and isolate cases of these childhood diseases. It is particularly important to do this in any family where some child will soon be starting off to school. Then the school when it opens will not become the center for spreading an epidemic of some contagious disease through the community.

"A case of scarlet fever can remain contagious two months or more, especially if there is a running ear or nose. Scarlet fever may be so mild that there is no rash but still it may be contagious. Diphtheria may be carried by a healthy school child to his classmates if a younger brother or sister recently has had it in the home. Therefore, just now as schools are about to open, health officers, doctors, parents, teachers and children should be especially watchful.

"It will pay to search your neighborhood carefully at this season for any neglected or unsuspected case of contagious disease. The health and school authorities of many cities and villages deserve special credit for their efforts to locate vacation cases of childhood disease just before the opening of the schools, in order to prevent these diseases from spreading in these institutions. The result has been a great reduction in school outbreaks.

"The schools are the healthiest places for children if we all will do our best to keep out of school any child who may scatter contagious disease. Remember that mild and undiscovered cases of scarlet fever can be contagious. Remember that a healthy brother or sister can carry diphtheria to a school and pepper it among his playmates there if he comes from a home where there is a case of that disease. If you have any suspicion that you may have had a contagious or childhood disease in your family during the summer vacation, be sure to consult your family physician or your local health officer about it before the schools open."
